Good Goldilocks and the Mean Bears

It may seem like I'm the bad guy in the story "Goldilocks and the Three Bears", but I'm most definitely not! Let me tell you the true story of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears".

It all started the day before I met up with the bears. I'm a twelve year old girl that lives in a small house next to the forest and let me just tell you my mom, Kathy, is extremely strict, especially when it comes to chores. My mom told me to go get some berries, so she could make pie for a fancy dinner. I had a really tiring day at school and had tons of homework due on Monday so I simply said, "No".

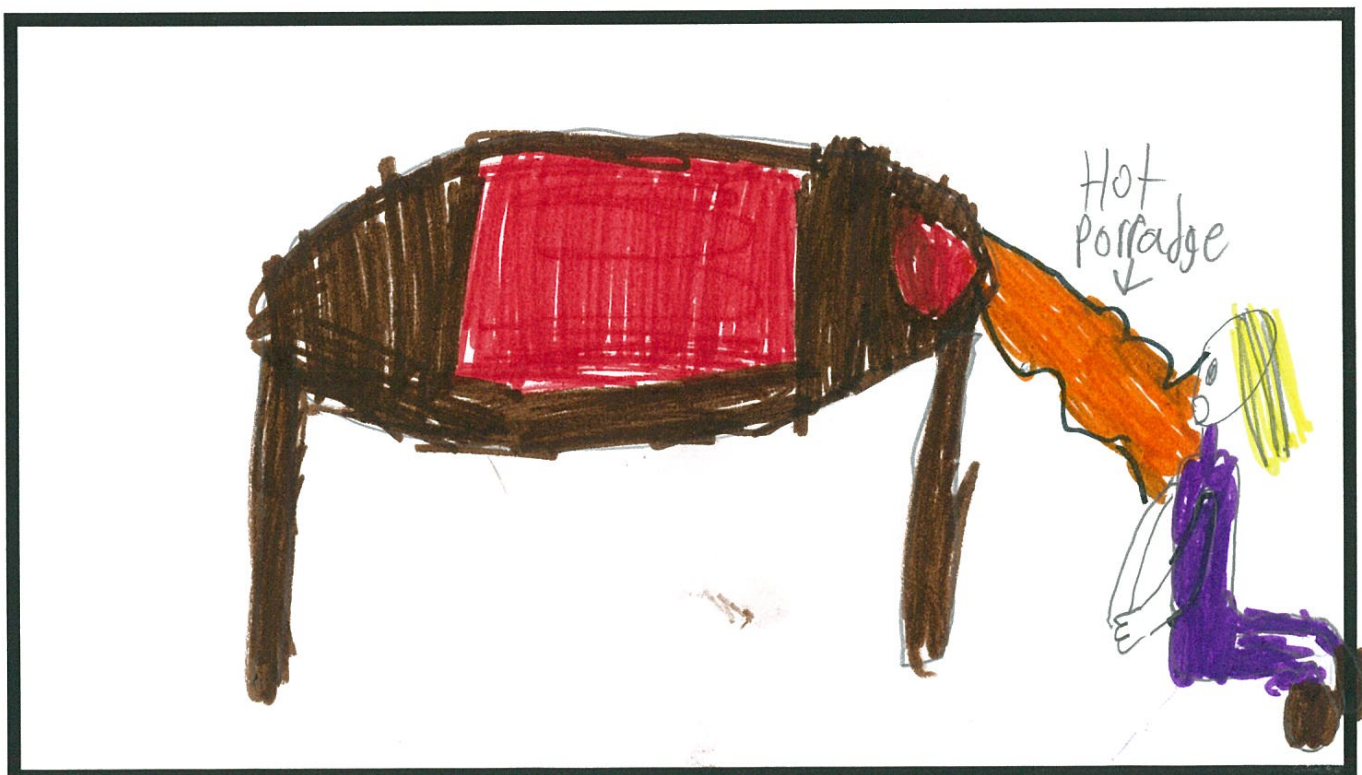

Then my mom got all, “How dare you say no to your mother, Goldi!” So I just ignored her until - I don’t know how it got to that point without me even answering - she said, “Go to your room! No dinner for you tonight and I don’t want to see you again until the morning!” I was kind of relieved because I was expecting her to take away a bunch of my things. So I went to my bedroom and slept.

When I woke up the next morning I went to the kitchen for breakfast and there was my mom glaring at me and she said, “You can’t have breakfast until you go get me some berries.” So I agreed because I was famished. It was about a half hour walk to the berry bush and I was about twenty minutes in when I realized how bored I was. I looked up into the sky because I loved to watch the birds and I saw an eagle trying to catch a crow. I started to follow the fight. That was a mistake I should never have made.

I was following the birds for about fifteen minutes when suddenly I hit a loose twig and stumbled forwards right into a door that swung open! I fell right into a chair and it broke. You may think I’m clumsy but I’m not clumsy! I know Clumsy. Clumsy is a kid in my grade, George Clumsy.

Anyway, I found myself under the table and started to stand up but I hit my head on the table and hot porridge spilled all over me! Okay, maybe I am a bit clumsy. As soon as the porridge touched my skin I yelped, got right up and started looking for a sink to use cool water on my skin, but there was no sink! I mean, what kind of house doesn't have a sink? I started to search the whole house, upstairs and downstairs. I checked the living room, the bathroom (no sink in the bathroom!), and even the laundry room but still no sink. There was one more room upstairs that I hadn't checked yet, but I was saving it for a reason. It was dark, creepy, and had pictures of enormous bears on the walls. Trust me, you wouldn't want have a rendezvous with one of them. Anyway, my skin was badly burnt, so I decided to take the risk. I went in and I saw two old beds that looked like they would break down any minute. I kept walking, and I saw the light switch, so I turned on the lights. Then I saw a super comfy looking bed, and it seemed just the right size for me. The burning was starting to calm down now, so I decided nothing bad could happen if I lied down for a bit to relieve the pain. Turns out something bad can happen.

So I got into the bed, but right then I thought, what am I doing? I'm in a strangers house and I decided to go to bed? So I was about to get out of the bed but it was too comfy-I mean complicated to get out of!

Suddenly I heard the door swing open downstairs. Then heard a loud ROAR! I got really scared, but I needed to listen to make sure it wasn't just my imagination. Then I heard in a deep, loud voice, "What in the world happened here? We were gone for a few hours and we've been robbed?!" I was sure I heard a few grunts and snorts and that was when I realized this cottage didn't belong to humans!

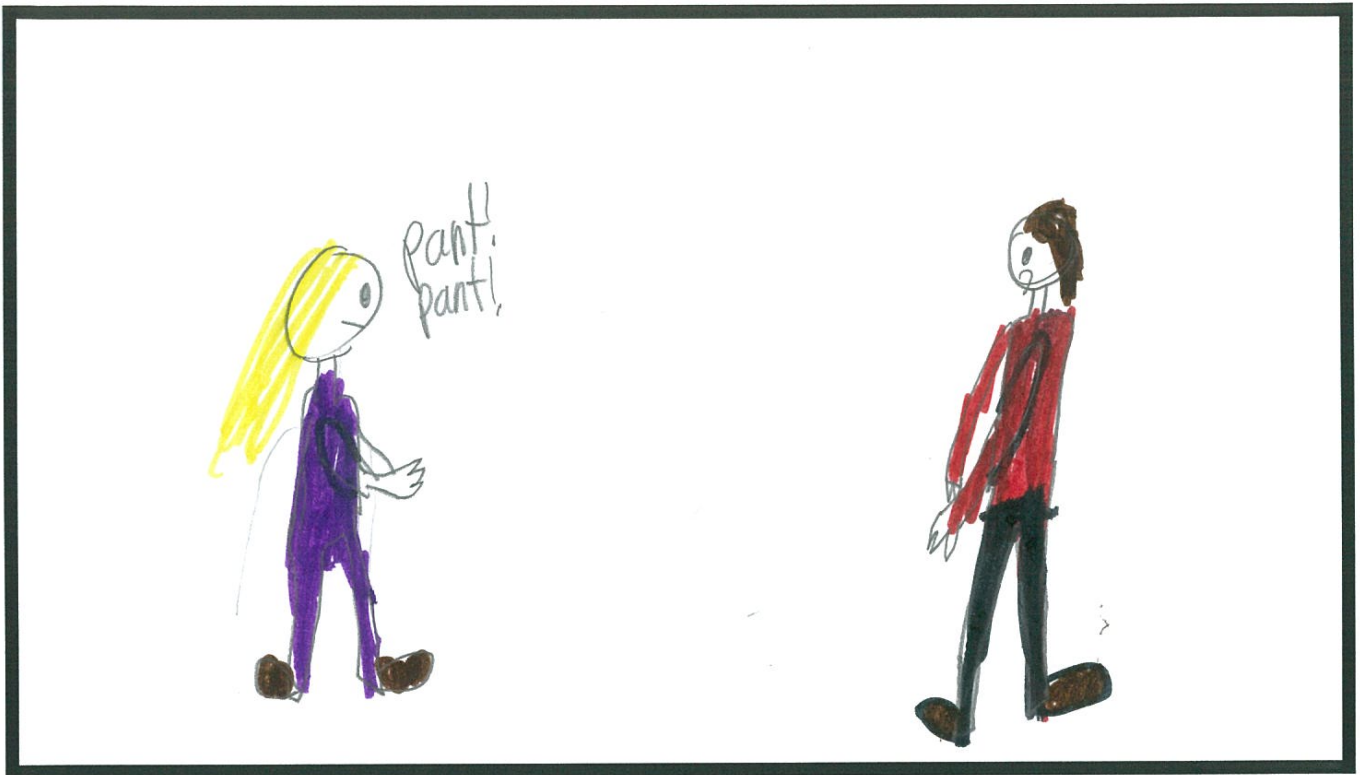

"Wait a minute. I smell Human. It's coming from upstairs!" Then I heard footsteps and before I knew it, there were three angry grizzly bears in the doorway!

The first was small and had really messy fur, the second was a bit bigger with a huge nose pointy ears, and the third was the biggest with even messier fur than the first, and he looked furious!

Then I realized why there were three of everything and each one was bigger than the last.

They all started charging at me! Luckily there was a window right next to the bed I was in, but I still had to react in seconds. I opened the window using all my might and jumped hoping that it wasn't a big drop! Luck was on my side, and it was only about a three metre drop so I was okay.

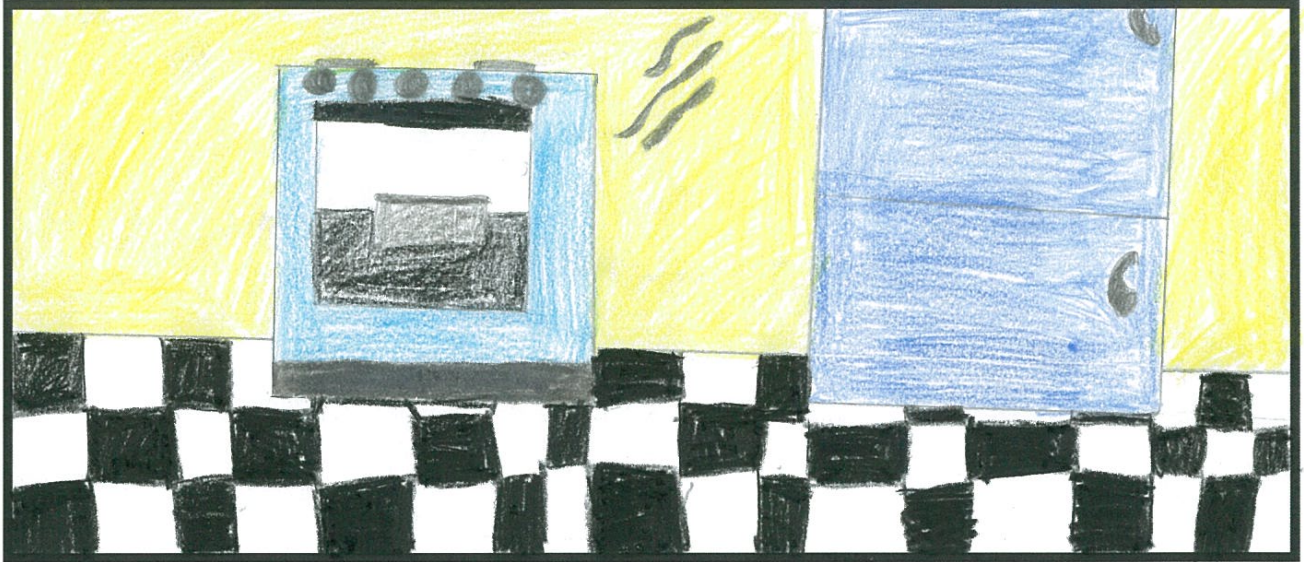

I sprinted home and told my mom the whole story. At first she didn't believe me, but when she saw how panicked I was, she did. After that my mom never made me go anywhere by myself again.

See? I'm not actually the bad guy in this story. You know all that stuff about "who ate my porridge and who broke my chair?" That was all made up to make me look like the bad guy, but it's not true. I'm the good guy.

The end.

THE GINGERBREAD MAN... DEAD OR ALIVE?

By: Emma Silber

Once upon a time, not long ago, there lived a couple. They were very, very famous for many things. Mrs. Muffin was famous for her outstanding baking skills and Mr. Muffin for his gardening. Peas, carrots, peppers, you name, it he grows it! Anyways, Mrs. Muffin had just baked one of her best and most valued creations, the gingerbread man!

"A work of art I tell ya," said Mr. Muffin licking his lips.

It was at that time when Mrs. Muffin had come in from outside. She headed to the kitchen and her jaw dropped! The cookie was GONE!!!

"WHERE IS MY COOKIE?" yelled Mrs. Muffin (otherwise known as Charlotte).

“Give it back Carl! I know you took it. You eat all of my desserts.” But Carl stared at her like he did nothing. That’s when he started giving a long speech about how the cookie ran away on two feet and got eaten by a pig. Or was it a fox? Charlotte wasn’t convinced, so she decided to go on her own mission to find out who actually took the gingerbread!

After a long time of walking, she finally arrived at the main village. Even though it took her about two hours to get there, she was still determined to find the cookie, bring it home, and make more! She asked many different people, all with many different answers.

“Can I have the cookie once you find it?” said one. “Oh, I saw it over there,” lied another.

It was very stressful to ask every individual and Charlotte was almost about to give up and go home until a little girl by the name of Julie came up to her and said, “ Excuse me, but I-I saw the cookie go down to the lake, Over there!”

She pointed in the direction of the lake. Charlotte thanked the little girl and sprinted down to the lake. Somehow, having the information encouraged her to move faster and get to the bottom of this.

“Hello,” said the fox. “ I’m Edward! How are you?”

Charlotte stuttered “Ummmmmm. Hello I’m Charlotte. Did you happen to eat a cookie today? A gingerbread man to be exact.”

Edward told Charlotte that he had seen no one. No One! Charlotte walked back home with her head low.

“Hey sweetie! Did you find your cookie?” said Mr. Muffin, eager to know.

“Nope. It’s useless. I’ll never find it!”

“Ummm, I might know who took it.”

Who, wondered Charlotte, WHO?

“I might have eaten it. Sorry but it just looked SO good!”

“Carl! Really. So you are telling me that I spent a whole day looking for a cookie, and the cookie was with you the whole time?”

Mr. Muffin nodded, “Oops!”

So there you have it, the true story of the gingerbread man. All the things that you thought you knew about the story were fake. There was never a talking cookie, or a hungry cookie-eating fox. It was all just a lie!

The End

The Gingerbread Cowboy

Chapter 1 The Contest

You may think you know the story of the gingerbread man. Most folks think they do, but I'm going to tell what really happened. I wasn't just a plain old gingerbread man, you know, I was a gingerbread cowboy, the best in all the land.

It all started with the Wild West baking contest and a sheriff named Pastry Pete. They called him Pastry Pete because in his free time he loved to bake. He could bake all night. He baked everything from cakes to pastries, but his favourite thing to bake was gingerbread cookies.

It was late when he finished his batch of gingerbread cookies for the Wild West Baking Contest. He baked five perfect gingerbread men, but I was the best of them. I would win him first prize in the contest and ten thousand dollars. I was the most handsome of all his cookies because I had a chocolate cowboy hat, thick moustache, and bright red candy bandana.

As we left the house to walk to the baking contest something happened, something so strange, folks in these parts are still talking about it today. I, yours truly, the gingerbread cowboy, jumped off his plate of gingerbread cookies and ran down the road

I turned around to old Pastry Pete and said, "Run, run as fast as you can, you can't catch me I'm the fastest gingerbread cowboy in the land. Now you are not going to win first prize at the contest."

Chapter 2 On the Run

The sheriff knew he couldn't catch me and make it in time for the Wild West Baking Contest. But that didn't stop me. I ran and ran until I couldn't see the sheriff anymore.

I knew the town was filled with people who loved a good gingerbread cookie, especially one as delicious as me, so I kept running.

After running for a while I bumped into something very large I thought was a bear, but it was only a harmless little cat, at least I thought it was. Then it began chasing me.

I started running as fast as I could, then chanted, "Run, run as fast as you can, you can't catch me I'm the fastest gingerbread cowboy in all the land."

I was out of breath from running so fast that I couldn't run anymore, and then as luck would have it. I found a hole in the road, so I jumped inside. As I landed, I hit something and knocked it down really hard. I looked up and I saw something that looked like me. It was me, minus the cowboy gear.

"Hello," he said.

"I am the gingerbread man, who are you?"

"I am the gingerbread cowboy. What are you doing here?" I asked.

"I'm hiding," he said.

"From what?" I asked.

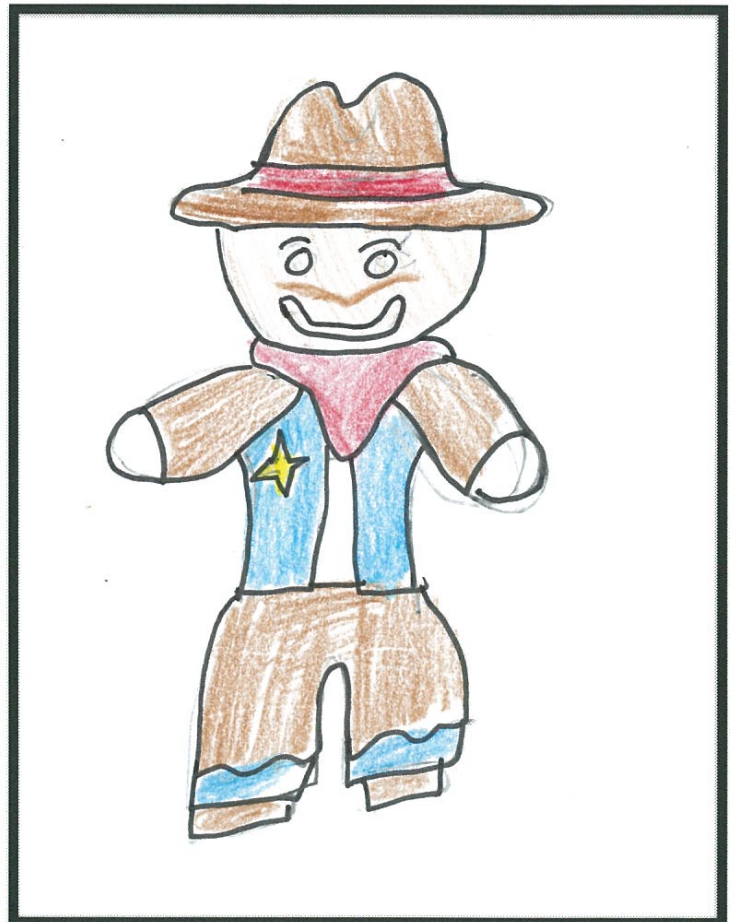

"Duh. From the angry stampede outside. What are you hiding from?"

"Duh. The angry cat outside."

So we waited until nightfall and then we crawled out of the hole and together ran to the river where we would cross to safety.

"Hello," he said.

"I am the gingerbread man, who are you?"

Chapter 3 The fox

I could see the gingerbread man was not happy I agreed, but he also knew we had no choice.

“Hop on,” said Philip. The gingerbread man and I hopped onto his back, and he slowly began to cross the cold, icy river. As we got closer and closer to the other side of the river, I began to relax. The gingerbread man and I smiled at each other as we knew we would be on the other side of the river shortly.

Just as we were steps away from making it to shore, we felt a huge buck, the same as what a donkey would do. The fox threw up his hind legs and we both went flying in the air. I got lucky and landed on the other side of the river. The gingerbread man wasn't as lucky. He landed right in the fox's mouth.

As I started running away from the fox, I wondered why the gingerbread man always gets eaten? Maybe I'm not the most delicious gingerbread in all the land. Maybe he was.

The Three Little Bobs

by Stewie

Once upon a time in a small village near the countryside there lived three little Bobs. What is a Bob you ask? A Bob is a creature that's name starts with the letters B,O, and B. So anyway where was I? Ahh yes, there lived three little Bobs. One was called Bob, another Bobet, and the oldest Bobby. The Bobs lived happily on a farm until one daytime farmer said, "Shoo shoo, get out you Mongrels!",

Now the Bobs had nowhere to go and the weather forecast predicted strong winds of up to 100mph! Bobby, the oldest and cleverest said, "How about we all build our own house?" That's exactly what they did. Bob, the youngest and laziest hired ten wolves to stand around him to protect him. Bobbed who had no personality at all built hers out of wood, because it symbolizes her characteristics. Bobby built his out of bricks, just to be safe. Now all they had to do was wait. Tick, tock, tick, tock. Pop! "Come quick guys, the toast is ready!" exclaimed Bob. The long wait is over. They all went back to their own homes to wait for the wind.

When the wind finally came, Bobet's house was knocked over like wind knocking over a house. Get it? No? Never mind. Bobby's house was knocked over just as easily. The two little Bobs ran as fast as their teeny tiny miniature small little legs could carry them to see if Bob was ok. Sorry reader I need a breather...

Ok I'm ready now. Wen they got to Bob's house they were surprised to see the wolves were standing. They bolted inside to see Bob drinking afternoon tea.

The Bobs waited inside for the wind to pass but it never did. The Bobs grew older and older until. No I can't say it. Well lets just say that they fell asleep and never woke up

The End

Just kidding. I would never end a story like that. I got you good. They fell asleep for centuries and centuries until one day a beautiful princess was galloping by on her magnificent horse when she noticed an old cottage in the middle of nowhere. "My what a beautiful cottage that is!" exclaimed princess Tilly. Oh sorry I forgot to mention that her name was Tilly. My bad. Princess Tilly jumped off her horse to go and investigate. She knocked on the door three times but nobody answered. She opened the door with a creak to find three little Bobs (which were meant to be extinct) lying on the floor. They didn't seem to be breathing so princess Tilly tried to perform CPR, but ended up kissing them.

The three little Bobs lived with princess Tilly for the rest of their lives and lived happily ever after.

The Actual End

The True Story of Little Red Riding Hood

By: Aria

Hi, my name is Larry, and I'm a wolf. I live in the woods of Little Town which is a very small town, if you haven't noticed. I'm also a very lonely wolf because nobody ever takes a walk in the woods (but living, oh, that's totally out of the question). Everyone is always in the town part of Little Town. But lucky me because one day I spotted a nice looking little girl who I wanted to make friends with. So I walked up to the little girl and asked what her name was. She said, "My name is Little Red Riding Hood, but you can call me Red". So we started to chat, and I found out that she was on her way to her grandma's cottage which surprisingly wasn't very far away from here (and I thought I was the only one living in the woods). Turns out, I was wrong! Anyway, apparently her grandma likes chocolate chip cookies, so that's what was in the little package she was carrying. I like chocolate chip cookies, too. So back on track with the story. I suggested that she should get some nice and simple petunias that I spotted just off the path. I was thinking, "Is she supposed to go off the path?" Well I was thinking that because I remembered that from a story I read, Hansel and Gretel they weren't supposed to go off the path. But I shook that thought right out of my head. So, anyway, what happened was, she said, "Oh why of course. How come I didn't think of that?" and skipped off to go get some wild petunias. Meanwhile I was thinking if I could be friends with that grandma of Red's, but I didn't have a clue on how to get there. But just then I noticed a piece of paper floating in the air, so I jumped up really high and caught it in mid air. (Did I mention that I have a record of 23 metres)! Well, I started to read the note, and it was Red's instructions on how to get to her grandma's house! I took that little note and was waiting for Red, but she took so long that I got bored and started to read the note. But then I also started to follow that paper, and I ended up at a nice little cottage almost good enough to eat. Just then I remembered my diet (no humans or human items). I was sad but okay with it because then I wouldn't have a friend.

So I knocked on the house door; one, because I wanted to be friends with her and two, because I saw that her garden was all dried up and I was an amazing gardener. (If you haven't noticed someone has to take care of this huge forest). So I waved nicely at her, but she got scared and flew into the bathroom and locked herself in. I hate when people mistake me for my identical twin brother (the big bad wolf who was not so nice to those three little self-absorbed piggies)!!! Well, I knew that I positively wasn't that kind of wolf.

So I went back to Red and she started to scream at me, "What were you thinking you mean old grumpy wolf. First you steal my directions to my grandma's house, and then you go and try to unlock her house by scratching at the door!"

But then I replied, "Hey first of all how do you know that and second of all it's all nonsense!" I walked up to Red and we got up into a big fight. In that fight we somehow managed to get to her grandma's lawn and started fighting again there. Just then her grandma came out of hiding in the bathroom and called the woodsman (no, he didn't live in the woods). Well, he came straight away to handcuff me and of course he brought some of the media with him to make a whole fake story about this, and that's how you know the story but it's not like that, it's how I just told you. Well, now you know the true story of Little Red Riding Hood.

THE END

By Ethan Dreyshner

Hippie Wolf and Red Riding Hunter

Once upon a time there lived Hey, wait a minute this story doesn't start like this let's start this properly. In the future, in a land far far away called Landtopia there lived Mr. Wolf and he was walking home after his long day of terrorizing little children. When all of a sudden everything went BLACK! The next day at W.E.C.S(Wolf Eaters Club Society) the hideout was quiet and they were enjoying their Mr. Wolf meat when all of a sudden somebody knocked on the door. The leader of the group SCAR got up and told the rest of the group,

"You Twits go open the door" Ethan, the second in command, opened the door.

Ethan, the second in command, opened the door. At The door was the most wanted wolf hunter. Riding Hunter! From behind Scar asked, “ What do you want? How do you know we won’t turn you in and get the loot?”

“Maybe you will, but it doesn’t matter I come here to ask to join you and the WECS.

Why would you even want to join us? We’re the second most wanted wolf hunters,” explained Scar.

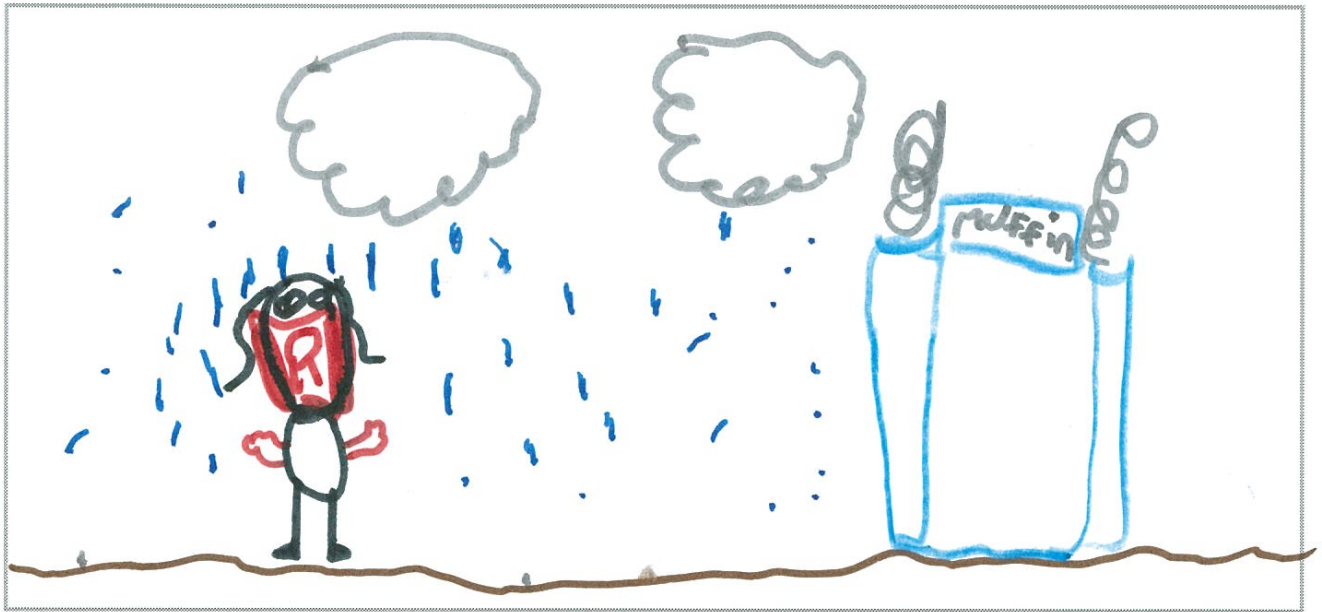

“Because together we will be so powerful nobody will be able to stop us.”

“Ok,” said Scar. Before you can join us you must do one special task.”

OK what” said red riding hunter.

“You must capture and bring hippie wolf to us” , we’ve been trying to capture him for a few months, but we keep finding decoys.“We think he works at old Mcdonald’s Muffin Factory,” said Scar.

“OK I’ll leave immediately said. Red Riding Hunter set off. She was almost at the Muffin Factory after a seven day hike.

She went to sit on a rock when all of a sudden she fell back and went down a dark dark tube! 5 Hours Later.

"Uhhhh," said Red Riding Hunter as she woke up. "Where am I?" she screamed. Out from the shadows stepped scar. "SCAR!" shouted Red Riding Hunter. WHAT are you doing here?

"Hahaha You're so foolish child, You didn't even notice that I'M hippie wolf.

"What?" screamed Red Riding Hunter. "Why would you send me to capture YOU?"

“You see, young one, ever since I was a young pup I was always teased and made fun of. Then one day I went to the book store and picked up a book called the Three Little Pigs and read it and I found out to get power, You must strike fear into people’s hearts.

I decided after being a vegetarian for a few months, I will start to eat meat again and that meat will be Wolf Meat!” said Hippie Wolf.

I went around town to find the toughest and roughest pirates. After I collected my group I went to the plastic surgery store to get a really cool human mask. You see ,child, now no one will judge ME. No ONE!”

“Ok ok” said Red Riding Hunter. What do you want from me?”

“I’ve heard stories that you have a vault in Florida at Gringotts and in that vault you have a weapon capable of wiping the whole race of wolves” said Scar.

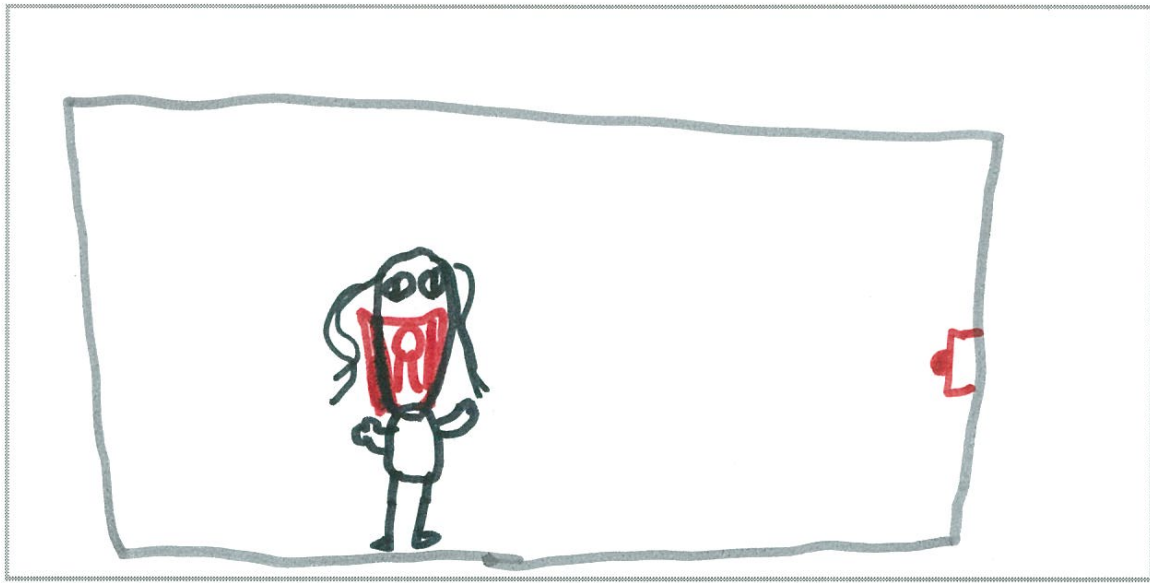

“But wouldn’t that also kill you?” asked Red Riding Hunter. “Yes, yes it would.” “But then there will also be no wolves to make fun of me and I will go down in history as the greatest wolf hunter EVER!" said Scar. With that in mind Scar left to gain the weapon that will wipe out wolves. As soon as Scar left, Red Riding Hunter started thinking of an escape plan.

She saw a vent at the top of the ceiling, but she was strapped down to a table with steel chains holding her. Then all of a sudden, a laser came on!

"Oh no, oh no, oh no! What am I going to do," said Red Riding Hunter. She only had seconds before the ray would disintegrate her. She had to think fast, so she took out her pocket sized laser and started to disintegrate the chains. She only had seconds 3 2 1 BLAM! Red Riding Hunter did a backflip and broke out of the chains just in time. She thought, "I still have to get out of this room.

" She had to think fast, so she took out her pocket sized laser and started to disintegrate the chains. She only had seconds 3 2 1 BLAM! Red Riding Hunter did a backflip and broke out of the chains just in time. She thought, "I still have to get out of this room." She glanced up and saw a vent so she jumped on top of the table and found a few boxes to stand on and managed to jump to the vent. She started to climb the vent when all of a sudden the vent collapsed.

She was in some room, it was empty. She saw a red button on the wall. She watched enough movies where they always say don't press the red button, but she really wanted to, so she did. All of a sudden, the ground started to rumble and the walls started moving. She'd have think fast. She scanned the whole room, but she could see no exit except the roof, so as quick as she could she pulled out her foldable grapple gun and shot it at the roof. Red Riding Hunter started to climb the grapple gun. The walls were just about to smash into her when she jumped and the walls missed crashing her. "Hopefully that won't happen again," said Red Riding Hunter. She climb the vent and she finally reached the end and jumped out.

5:19 pm

Hippie Wolf was on his private plane to Florida when the plane started to crash. Out of the unknown, Red Riding Hunter jumped out and said, "You left me to die! If i'm going to die, you are too!"

So Hippie Wolf jumped out of the back of the plane saying, "toodaloo." Red Riding Hunter came out after him. She jumped out of the plane. She landed right on top of Hippie Wolf and started to strangle him. He quickly escaped the choke hold and then just vanished. Vanished. He was gone. Red Riding Hunter had to figure out some way to escape. She saw a nearby plane, so she pulled her miniature jetpack out of her pocket and flew toward the plane. (You may be thinking, why does Red Riding Hunter just use her jetpack to fly to Florida? Well she had barely any fuel. She used most of it trying to capture Mr. Wolf.) As if it was her lucky day the plane was flying to Florida. She took a break to eat her egg sandwich. You know, even villains need to eat something. You think you'd wonder where Hippie Wolf is by now? Well he's in Florida in Red Riding Hunter's vault. He used his newest technology, the flappers. They can instantly teleport you to any bank vault in the world. Hippie Wolf was swimming in all of the gold coins that were there. When he looked up and saw the ultimate weapon, Hippie wolf started to make a ladder out of the gold coins to reach the weapon.

After an hour of climbing, he finally reached the ultimate weapon. As Hippie Wolf was approaching, he laughed manically “Mwa ha ha ha Mwa ha ha!” Using his new technology (The flappers) he quickly teleported to central Florida. Hippie Wolf was loading the ultimate weapon when all of a sudden Red Riding Hunter appeared almost out of nowhere.

She screamed at Hippie Wolf “This will be the last time we meet!”

“I’d say the same thing,” said Hippie Wolf.

Red Riding Hunter ran up to Hippie Wolf trying to punch him, but he kept dodging her punches.

“NOOOOOO!” shouted Red Riding Hunter.

“Ah!” said Little Red Riding Hood as she woke up. That was a bad nightmare. Hopefully that won’t happen in real life. But what Little Red Riding Hood didn’t know was that baby Hippie Wolf was in the forest right next to her house.

HANSEL AND GRETEL IN THE FUTURE

BY: AARON YURKOWSKI

Once upon a time, there were two twins whose names were Hansel and Gretel. Hansel was a boy with brown hair and his sister, Gretel had blonde hair. Their family lived in the year 2416 in a really busy city called Fairytaleville. They had an evil stepfather who didn't even let them play his computer games or give them allowance so they could buy their own. How mean! Their stepfather was a computer game maker. In fact, he liked his computer games more than them. Their mother was really nice and loved them very much.

One day, their evil stepfather decided that he wanted to get rid of Hansel and Gretel because he didn't want to share his computer games with them. In fact, he wanted to get rid of them so much that he lied to Hansel and Gretel and told them he was going to go get a jetpack, a backpack with jets on it, from a store in the busiest part of downtown, but he actually wanted to lure and abandon them there. He said that he wanted them to come, so they could watch his things because he needed to try the different jetpacks on. He left them at a busy corner outside the jetpack store and told them that he would come back, but he never did.

Hansel and Gretel tried to use the GPS on their phone to find their way back home, but the batteries ran out. The kids were lost. While they were wandering around downtown, they came across a house that was made out of iPads. For their whole life, they wanted to play and enjoy computer games, but never got a chance. They were starved for computer time! They forgot all about being lost and went into the iPad house to play them.

"This is fun!" Hansel said to Gretel. "These are the best computer games I've ever played!"

"They're the only ones you have ever played!" said Gretel.

So Hansel and Gretel played. Suddenly, an evil robot came.

"What are you doing in my house?" it said angrily.

Hansel and Gretel turned to the door to run away, but the robot wouldn't let them leave. The robot was even worse than their stepfather. It made them do all sorts of chores. It kept them there for forty days and forty nights.

Finally, just as it looked like the robot was going to let them go, the robot decided to cook them in a bowl of lava and feed them to its robotic dogs. The robot kept them in a jail cell and fed them a lot so they would get fat. Luckily, Gretel found the robot's self-destruct button, so when it was about to cook them, they squirmed out of the robot's hands and pushed on its self-destruct button rather hard. The robot shrieked as they ran out of its house. They were safe! Luckily, they were able to use the GPS on their phone to find their way home because the robot thought that their phone was his so he charged it for them.

While Hansel and Gretel were walking home, they saw the robot's face on wanted posters and listened to people chatting about how it tried to feed two kids to its robotic dogs. In about two hours, they finally got home. Their mother was really worried and was very happy to see them.

"I was so worried!" she cried.

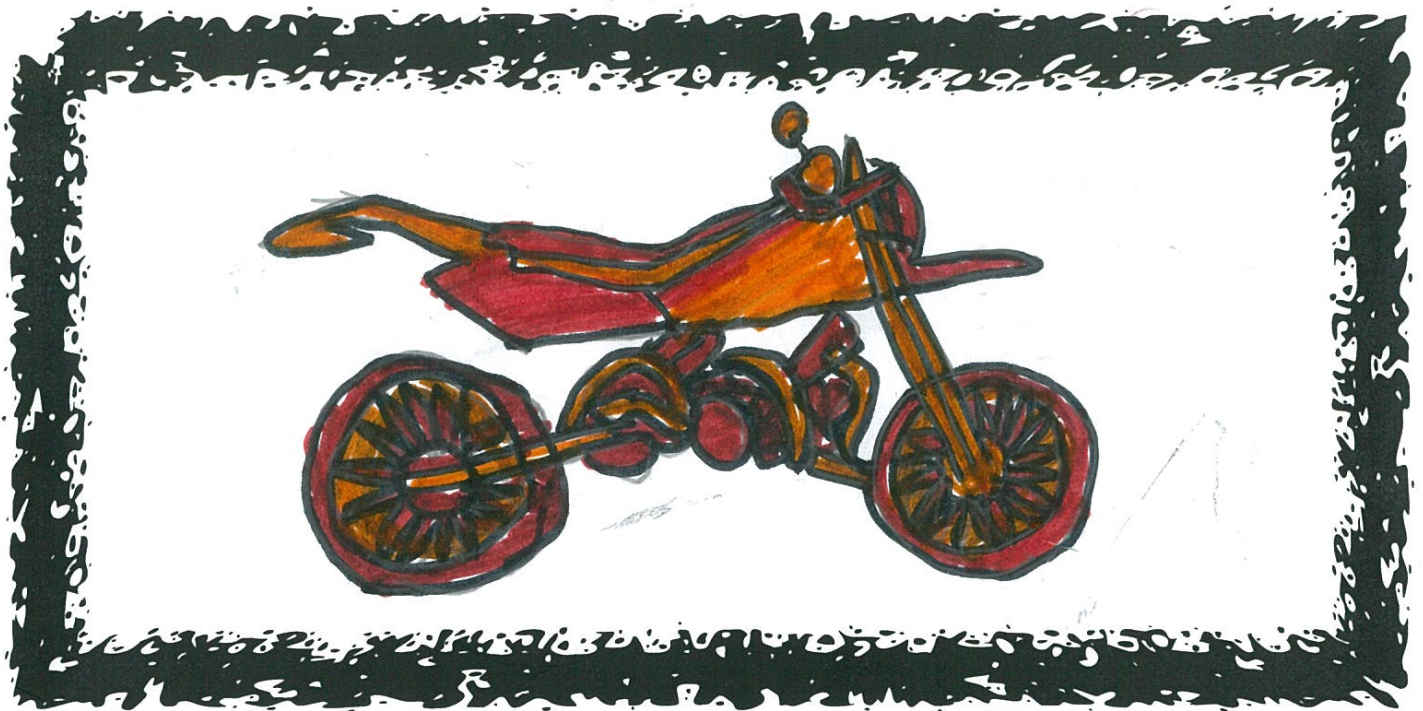

Hansel and Gretel told her all about how their stepfather left them outside the store and how their phone's batteries died so they couldn't find their way home and about the robot that tried to kill and eat them but they self-destructed it first.

Hansel and Gretel's mother was so furious at their stepfather that she sent him away and he was never heard of again. Their mother now let them play computer games for two days during the week and on weekends. Their mother came with them wherever they went, so they wouldn't get lost again and now gave them 10 dollars a week, so they could buy a computer and some games. Hansel and Gretel had so much fun with their mother and computer games and they lived happily ever after!

The Three Russian Motorcycles

By:Amit

Once upon a time, there were three big motorcycles. Their names were Goaty, Mimi, and Pini. The bad car's name is Narnia. These motorcycles moved to the outside of a recycling factory. That was where big bad Narnia also lived. When the three motorcycles started building their houses, they got supplies from the recycling factory. The three supplies they got were a bunch of paper, styrofoam, and cement.

The smartest motorcycle built his house out of cement, the second one built his house out of styrofoam, and the third one built his out of paper. Goaty took a second to build the paper one, it took two seconds for Mimi to build the styrofoam one, and it took one day for Pini to build the steel house. While Pini was still building, the other two Russian motorcycles finished their houses.

They went to the motorcycle dealership, and they each exchanged their motorcycle for a much faster one that can get up the recycle hills and do tricks. When they went back to their houses they were about to go to bed but the two Russian motorcycles forgot to build a bed. So they went back to the recycle factory and they got supplies and drove back home.

The motorcycles were too tired to build their bed so they fell asleep on the floor. When the two motorcycles woke up they started to build their bed. They were sweating hot. How hard it was to build the bed. After they built the bed they went and drove to the oil station to drink some oil so they can drive back home to see Pini. When they saw Pini, he was asleep in his nice house so they knocked on the door. He he jumped out of bed and ran to the door. He said, "I hope it is not that bad Narnia car that tries to recycle the house down."

The two Russian motorcycles said, "It's Mimi and Goaty, so he let us in. Your house is so huge. It took you one day to build it."

After that we all went to buy furniture. It was so expensive so we turned around to go back home. When we got home and we were all in our house. Narina came and he recycled the house down and the motorcycle went as fast as he could ride to Mimi's house. Mimi asked, "What happened?"

"Look!" Pini said to Narnia.

"Why don't we go out to Pini's house? He has lots of food," Mimi said. Narnia said, "I was just doing the right thing, recycling paper. That's what Mimi taught me. Let's go to mimi's already!"

"Why," said Narnia.

"For the best meal ever! Wait there is a very bad scary wolf car outside," said Pini.

"Run," said Mimi, but it was too late and he jumped on the house and they all got smushed and killed. All the oil splashed out of the motorcycles.

Then the wolf car came and ate us. The wolf car lived happily ever and married a wolf car and had eighteen hundred baby wolf cars.

Harry and Grace

By: Shirley

Once upon a time, there lived a woman who had two children, Harry and Grace. They would do anything for her. Their mother loved them but there was always one thing that caused her not to like them very much. They never ate their veggies!

One sunny day, Harry and Grace's mother sent them to a nearby forest to go collect some berries.

"Harry, Grace, would you please do me a favour and go get some raspberries and strawberries for me?"

Of course they agreed, so they grabbed their baskets and headed out the door. Harry and Grace always knew where the good and tasty berries grew and always knew their way home, but this time they went too far into the forest that they forgot their way home.

“Do you know the way home from here?” asked Grace worriedly.

“ No I don’t,” replied Harry.

As Harry and Grace were wandering around in the forest, they came across the Veggie Kingdom which was ruled by a greedy queen named Kale Salad. She made everybody in her kingdom eat vegetables everyday. That’s why Harry and Grace never came to visit.

“ Are you sure you want to go through Veggie Kingdom? The queen’s guards might notice us and alert the queen to come and put us in the dungeon!” exclaimed Grace.

“Everything is gonna be fine,” said Harry.

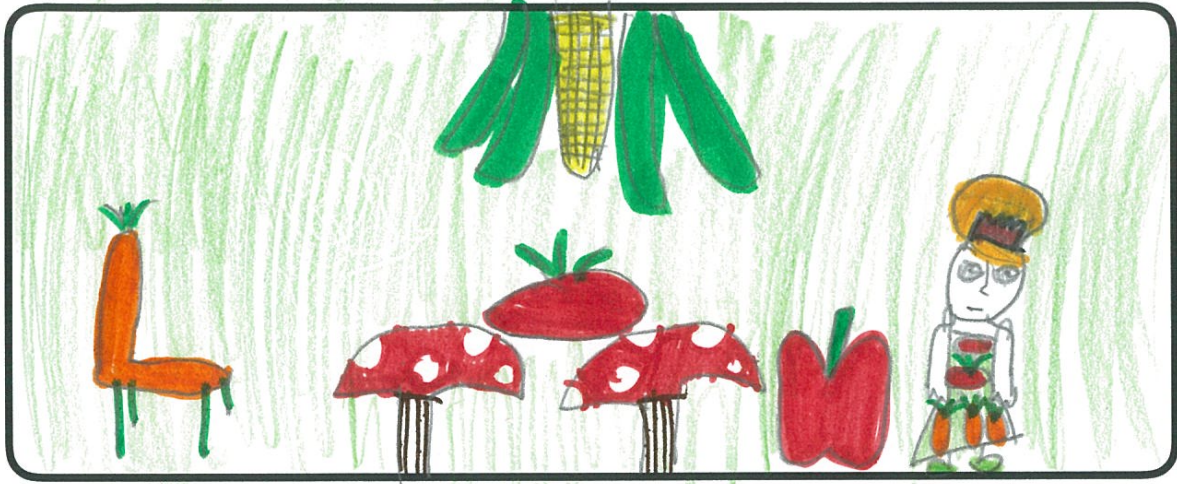

As Harry and Grace were walking through Veggie Kingdom, Grace noticed that everything was completely fine. When they were walking in front of the castle they started hearing the guards screaming and yelling.

“ Intruders! Intruders! Get the queen here immediately!”

Harry and Grace started running away from the kingdom. They stopped for a moment and noticed that the guards were chasing them. They ran as fast as they could, but the guards were even closer. Harry and Grace were almost out of breath, but they kept on running, the guards caught up and grabbed their arms and were dragged to the palace.

“ Do you think we’re going to the dungeon?” whispered Grace.

“ I’m not sure. I hope not,” said Harry

When they arrived at the palace, they looked around and everything was made out of veggies! The chairs, walls, ceiling, even the floors were made out of veggies!

They both heard a noise. The queen was approaching.

“ Hello, you said it was urgent. I came as fast as I could. You said something about intruders,” said the queen

“ Wow, even the queen has clothes made out of vegetables!” said Harry in surprise.

“Yeah, her gown is made of cabbages and her crown is made out of brussel sprouts and carrots!” whispered Grace in amazement.

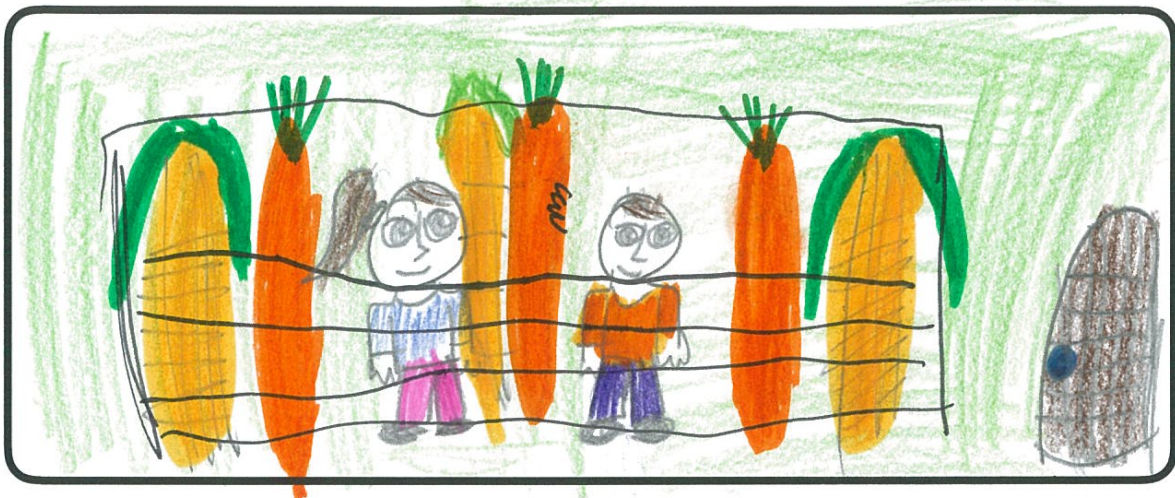

“ Send them to the dungeon, right now I tell you! ” yelled the queen.

“ Yes, your majesty,” replied the guards.

Before they knew it, the guards were dragging them so fast, almost as if they were scared of the queen.

There were thousands and thousands of stairs leading to the dungeon. When they finally got there, Harry and Grace were thrown into the dungeon and locked up. Suddenly, a recorded message started playing .

“ Welcome to the dungeon. Here you will stay all your life and will never get out.”

Harry and Grace were a little scared and worried until they both noticed that the dungeon was made out of vegetables.

“ I think we’re going to have to eat our way out,” said Harry.

“ I guess you’re right,” replied Grace.

It took them an hour to decide who would take the first bite so they compromised by taking the first bite at the same time.

“ Three, two, one, bite!” they both shouted.

They both took a huge bite and they looked at each other in amazement.

“ Wow, this is the best food I’ve ever eaten!” they both exclaimed.

They started eating everything, the cabbage, carrots, cucumbers, brussel sprouts, kale, spinach, celery, peppers, avocados, and squash.

When they were finished eating they saw a door leading outside.

They ran as fast as they could and opened the door and headed to the forest. They ran and ran until they spotted a house. It was their house! They ran so fast that they both ran into the door, but they stood up and rushed inside. Their mother was sitting on the couch and asked them. "Where were you guys?" they both replied "It's a long story." From that day on, they asked their mom to cook vegetables everyday for every meal and they all ate vegetables

Happily ever after.

Naomi and the Growing and Glowing Flower

By: Naomi Dodek

Part 1

Once upon a time, there was a family of four living in the B.C. countryside. The family was a bit on the poor side. They had a small farm with a few cows, chickens and one horse. Naomi was the ten year old sister, Max was the nine year old brother, Michelle was the mom and lastly Daniel was the dad. They lived in a cottage near village. Their cottage was in front of the mountains and surrounded a grassy area. One spring morning when all the flowers had bloomed, Michelle requested that Naomi should go to the market in the village and buy some flowers for a dinner with their friends. The dinner was very important because it was for one of the guests' birthdays. Michelle wanted Naomi to buy flowers for the birthday dinner because the flowers would be the guest's present. Michelle handed Naomi a shiny blue five dollar bill for the market in the village. "Use this money well Naomi. It is precious," remarked Michelle.

She arrived at the market and browsed for local flowers. Suddenly, a lady with a dirty apron (from gardening numerous times) called out to Naomi and announced "Come close. I have a secret to tell you. This flower is special and is very rare. It is called the glowing flower. Whenever you desire something, go to the flower, tell it what you desire and your wish will appear. But you have to defeat a horrible dragon in order to activate the flower. You have to kill the dragon, and then you can wish for anything you desire from the flower. Would you like to take the glowing flower? "

"Yes," Naomi trembled.

"My pleasure," replied the lady. "My name is Agatha. The flower is five dollars."

Naomi handed over the money. "Thank you," she responded. "You're welcome" Naomi said.

Part 2

At home, Naomi presented the glowing flower to her family. Michelle grabbed it from Naomi and shouted at her, "Why did you waste our money on one wilted flower that will surely die soon?!"

"I - I" Naomi stammered. "I wanted to buy this flower because the lady who sold it to me said this flower is magic and I believed her. This flower is called the glowing flower because if you imagine and believe in magic, you will see that this flower glows. She also remarked that the flower gives you anything you desire after you slay a horrible dragon."

"I don't agree with that lady and all that nonsense you have told me. I wish she hadn't put all that garbage into your mind. I'm so furious now I could rip the flower, piece by piece right now! Anyways the dinner is tomorrow night!" Michelle blurted out.

"No please" Naomi badgered and begged. "Don't rip the flower apart. It is meaningful to me."

"Well then I guess I will just have to throw it out of the window for now!!!" shouted Michelle.

So that is what Michelle did. She tossed the flower out of the window.

During the night, Naomi was startled by a horrendous, shake which was coming from outside. She crept out of bed and saw that the flower was growing wildly and vigorously. The glowing flower almost reached the sky. Naomi decided to tiptoe downstairs and climb the flower. Naomi just remembered that the dragon would appear out of the flower and she would have to defeat it. She held back on that.

"Morning time!" called out Michelle.

Naomi was very lethargic this morning and it was a busy day. She had to help in the kitchen for their dinner that night with their guests. About five minutes later, Naomi rolled over and rubbed her eyes. For breakfast, Naomi had a slice of bread with butter and a glass of fresh creamy 1% milk.

"Mom, what can I do to help out?" questioned Naomi.

"You can make some bread and cheese for dinner." If we run out of ingredients please go to the market and buy some. You do not need to buy milk because we have our own cow. Don't buy ANYTHING else please," instructed Michelle.

"Okay Mom. I'll get started," replied Naomi.

Subsequently, Naomi made the bread and cheese for the day. Naomi did in fact run out of flour so she ran to the market. This time Naomi did as Michelle instructed. Naomi also jazzed up the cottage by cleaning it up and assembling it. The afternoon passed, and the evening arrived. Their guests arrived. They were a couple and friends of Naomi's and Max's parents. Their names were Dixie and John. Naomi just remembered that she had to put flowers on the table.

Part 3

Naomi rushed outside to the glowing and growing flower. "I wish for a bouquet of fresh countryside flowers". Naomi said to the flower. Suddenly a vicious dragon pranced out of the top of the flower (which reached the sky) and roared loudly. The guests and Naomi's family ran out of the cottage surprised and frightened. "What have you done Naomi!?! screamed Daniel. We are all in danger now!".

"Dadaddy, I'm scared," shivered Max. The dragon shot fire out of his mouth directly at our cottage.

"Run as fast as you can! screeched Michelle! "Naomi get the bow and arrows from the barn, quick, as fast as you can!"

Michelle demanded.

"Yes Mom," trembled Naomi.

Meanwhile, the dragon blew at their precious cottage with his dreadful fire which made all their cows, chicken and horse scramble away. Everyone by now was totally frightened, terrified and shaking.

"Naomi shoot the bow and arrow at the dragon's heart then he will be defeated and we will be able to grant our wishes to make our life how it was before!" cried Michelle.

Michelle wiped away her tears and gulped.

Naomi was very prepared to shoot at the dragon's heart at that moment.

"NOW!" bellowed Michelle, "slay the dragon!"

Naomi did as she was told, but with fear and barely any hope. It took a few aims for Naomi to get the bow and arrow into place. Suddenly the dragon roared emphatically and it vibrated which made everyone fall to the ground with a loud thud.

Finally, Naomi got her hopes back and took one well aimed shot to the dragon's heart, which went right through the dragon's heart! Yay! They were all saved! But unfortunately everything now looked ruined outside. The grass was all brown, the sky grey and it was also raining. The only thing left was the precious flower. It looked the same and was still the same height. Naomi checked on our guests and family.

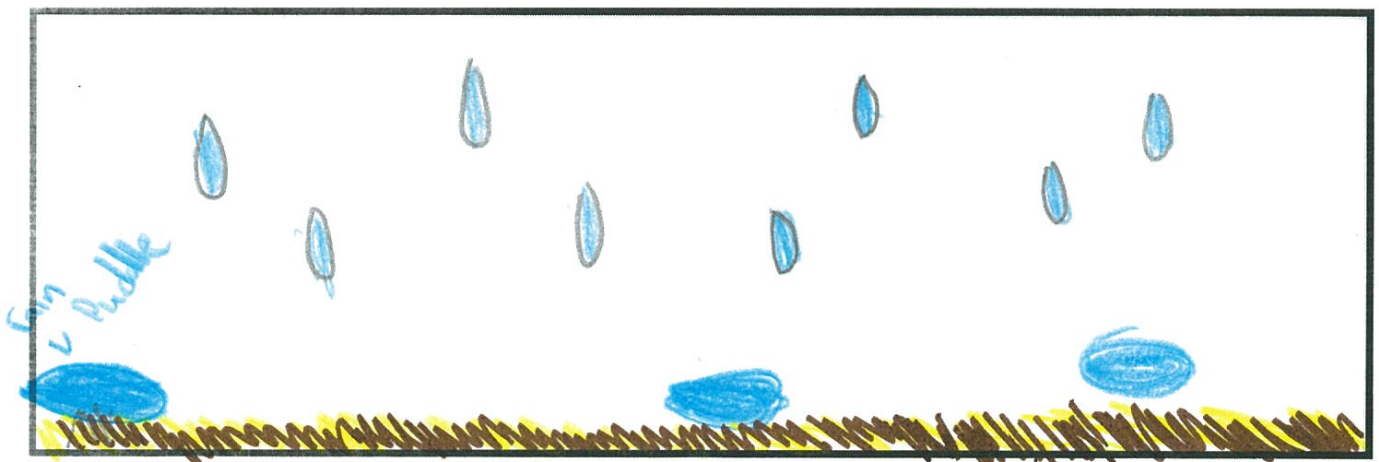

"Are you all okay?" she questioned everyone.

"Yes we're all fine except for what's going to happen next," responded Dixie.

"Do you think anyone could do anything about our situation right now?" questioned John.

"In fact, yes. You can wish from the glowing and growing flower for anything you desire. May I wish for something please?" queried Naomi.

"Yes go ahead, said Daniel.

Naomi walked up to the flower and said to it, "May I please have my cottage back how it was but more updated please?"

"Neeeeesssssss" the flower whispered.

Suddenly the broken wood pieces from the house gathered up and formed a wall. More and more house pieces formed out of thin air and made the cottage. Now it was finished and it looked beautiful. They were all so happy!

"Daddy that was magical!" exclaimed Max.

"Yes it was magic." said Daniel.

Everyone wished for important things to make our life better, like making nature look nice again, wishing for fresh food and new clothes, to make their farm animals come back and of course the flowers for their guests.

"Yay! We're all happy now!" everyone cried with joy.

The sun came out and it became a lovely evening.

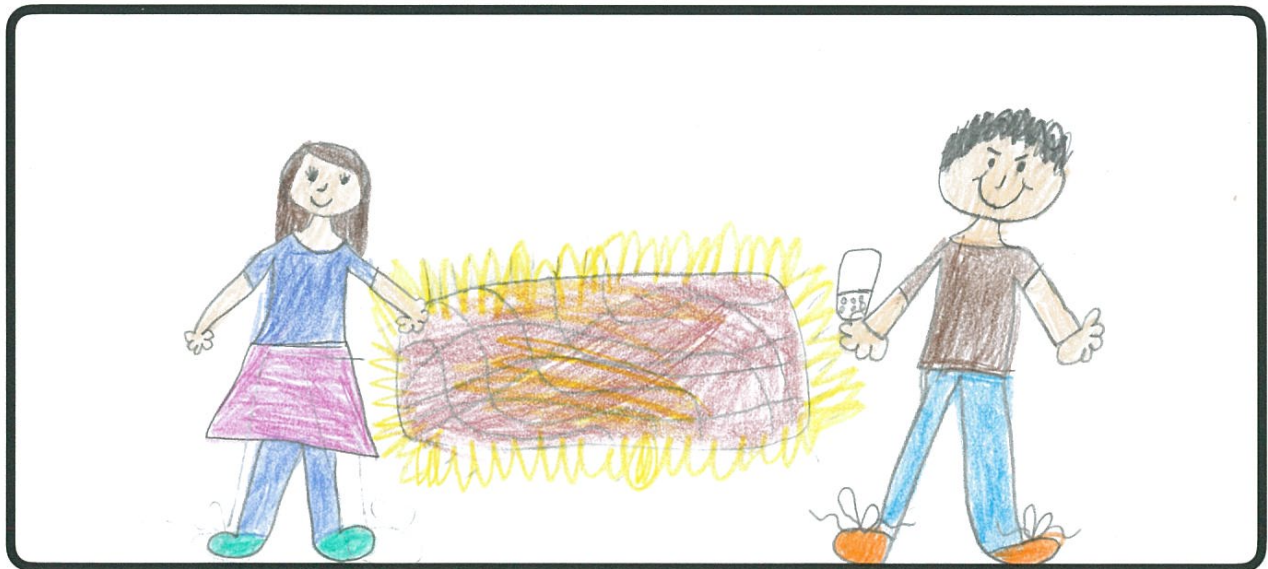

Everyone ate dinner in peace and the flowers were a beautiful sight for the table. Our cottage became wonderful and it was very updated. They all lived happily ever after.

Emily and the Magic Carpet

by: Emily

Once upon a time there was a little girl named Emily. Her dad was named Jack. They lived in a small village outside of London. Emily's phone was broken and she needed to go and fix it. So her father sent her to the store.

When Emily got there, she saw a man at the front. The man said, "Hello little girl, how can I help you?" Emily said, "Yes, my phone is broken." Suddenly out of nowhere, the man offered her something. He said "I will give you this magic carpet if I get to keep your phone". Emily thought about it for a while and she said, "okay". After they made the deal, she skipped home very excited.

When she got home she said to her dad, "Guess what guess what! I got a magic carpet." Her Dad looked confused at first and he yelled "WHAT". "How did you get the magic carpet?" She replied, "I traded it for my phone". "You WHAT?" he sounded really mad. "Emily, why did you trade your phone for a magic carpet that doesn't do anything?" "I'm really sorry dad", "it is fine but it's time for bed". About an hour later Emily fell asleep on the magic carpet. While Emily was asleep, the magic carpet started rising really high. Clouds started to surround her and one wet cloud touched her face. She woke up because it felt weird. After she woke up she looked down and she said, "aaaaaaaaaaaa!" She realized she was in the sky.

The carpet was still next to the castle. It started to float up into the air. Emily thought it was going to fly away so she ran back and jumped on it quickly. The guy who Emily traded her phone for the carpet was friends with the Queen of Hearts. Emily recognized him standing with the Queen of hearts. He yelled, "Wait! Come back." Emily went back and the man said to her, "I made that trade with you because I wanted to invite you to a party up in the clouds." He told her that it's a dress up party that he invited her to. The man said, "Don't be scared of the Queen, It's just a costume." Emily said "Ohhh, I'm sorry that I ran away from you". "It's okay", said the person in the costume "you didn't know". After that they all became friends and had a really fun costume party.

The magic carpet took her to this giant floating castle. Suddenly the Queen of Hearts appeared. Emily saw her in a movie once and she thought that she was evil and liked to chop off heads. The Queen said, "Get out of my castle!" Emily got really scared and ran away.

CINDERZACHA

Once upon a time, there was a boy named Cinderzacha who lived in a huge mansion. He lived with his nice mom, evil dad and evil brother. One day, Cinderzacha received an email saying: You have won a ticket to the Super Ball.

“Woohooo! Oh yeah I got a ticket and you guys didn’t!” Cinderzacha blurted out to his brother and dad. Out of nowhere, his brother ripped the ticket out of Cinderzacha’s hand, nearly tearing it in half. Sam, the evil brother, held the ticket in the air, out of Cinderzacha’s reach.

“Hey, give it back right now!” Cinderzacha cried.

“Why would I?” yelled Sam.

“Because you are a good brother... wait never mind, you are the bad guy in this story. How about this - you, me, and dad play in a round - robin football tournament and the winner gets the ticket. Fair?”

“Fair,” agreed Sam.

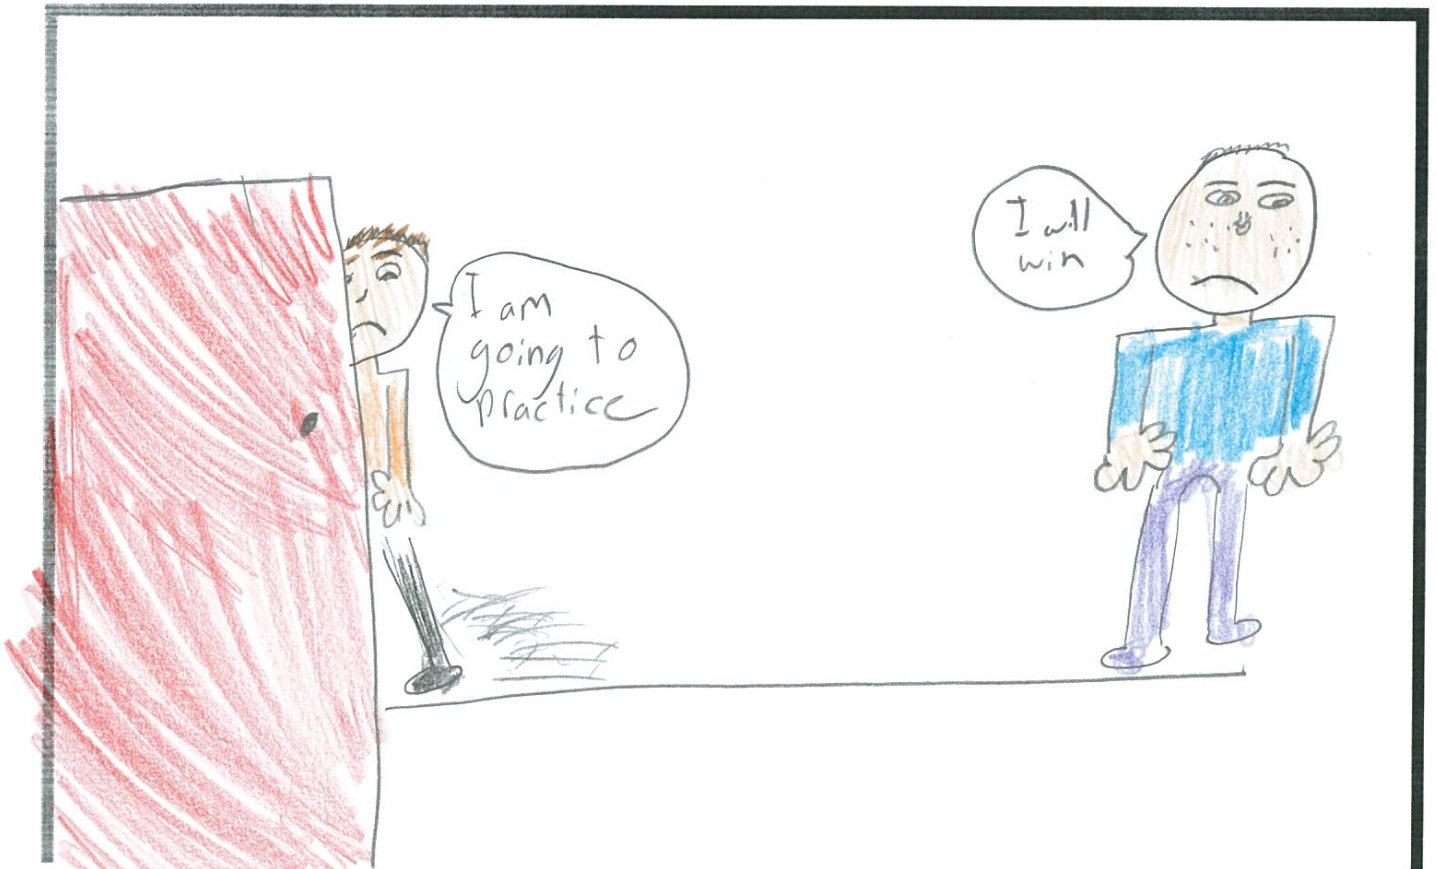

CINDERZACHA

“Fair, but of course, I will win,” said Michael, the evil dad.

“ No, it will be a piece of cake for me,” argued Cinderzacha. By now Sam was already out the door and practicing.

“Lucky half,” Sam said in an odd tone.

“What are you talking about? I totally demolished you and I will next half too” bragged Michael.

CINDERZACHA

10 minutes later

It's game time and Michael starts with the ball it's first play, and Sam intercepts the ball. He runs, and runs, and runs and then he trips and falls on his face. Uh oh, his face is covered in blood, Sam has to be disqualified from the tournament.

"it doesn't matter anyway he would lose" exclaimed Cinderzacha in a very harsh accent.

It is the final game because there is no one to play Sam. Nicole the mom is watching on the side lines.

Two minutes left and the score is tied Cinderzacha has the ball and he's running... he's running. Touchdown! By now the clock is at 40 seconds left and it's going down. Cinderzacha does a simple running play just to run the clock down. 3, 2, 1, the game is over Cinderzacha wins! Now off to the super ball for Cinderzacha.

CINDERZACHA

“Watch out Cinderzacha,” yelled Nicole but it was too late. Michael snuck up behind him and grabbed the ticket out of his hands and then ripped it into bits.

“Noooooooooooo, why would you do that, you monster” cried Cinderzacha.

“Now no one can go to the Super Ball”

“Why would you do that? I was going to give it to you. I felt bad,” exclaimed Cinderzacha.

“Oops, my bad” said Michael and then he ran away

CINDERZACHA

The night of the Super Ball

"Whaa! Whaa! Whaa! Why did my mean dad rip the ticket in half and why did my brother make me do the tournament." cried Cinderzacha

"Hello, my young boy. My name is Richard Sherman I am your fairy god father, I have a private jet that travels at the speed of light and a Super Ball ticket for you right behind me." Richard Sherman revealed the enormous private jet and the Super Ball tickets.

"I... I... I can't believe this I am going to the Super Ball!!!!!!!"

"Keep it down, Cinderzacha. Your dad might hear you anyways let's go."

Four seconds later they arrived in San Francisco, the home of Super Ball 50.

"Wow, we are actually here. It is so amazing!" exclaimed Cinderzacha.

"We don't have that much time so let's get a move on it."

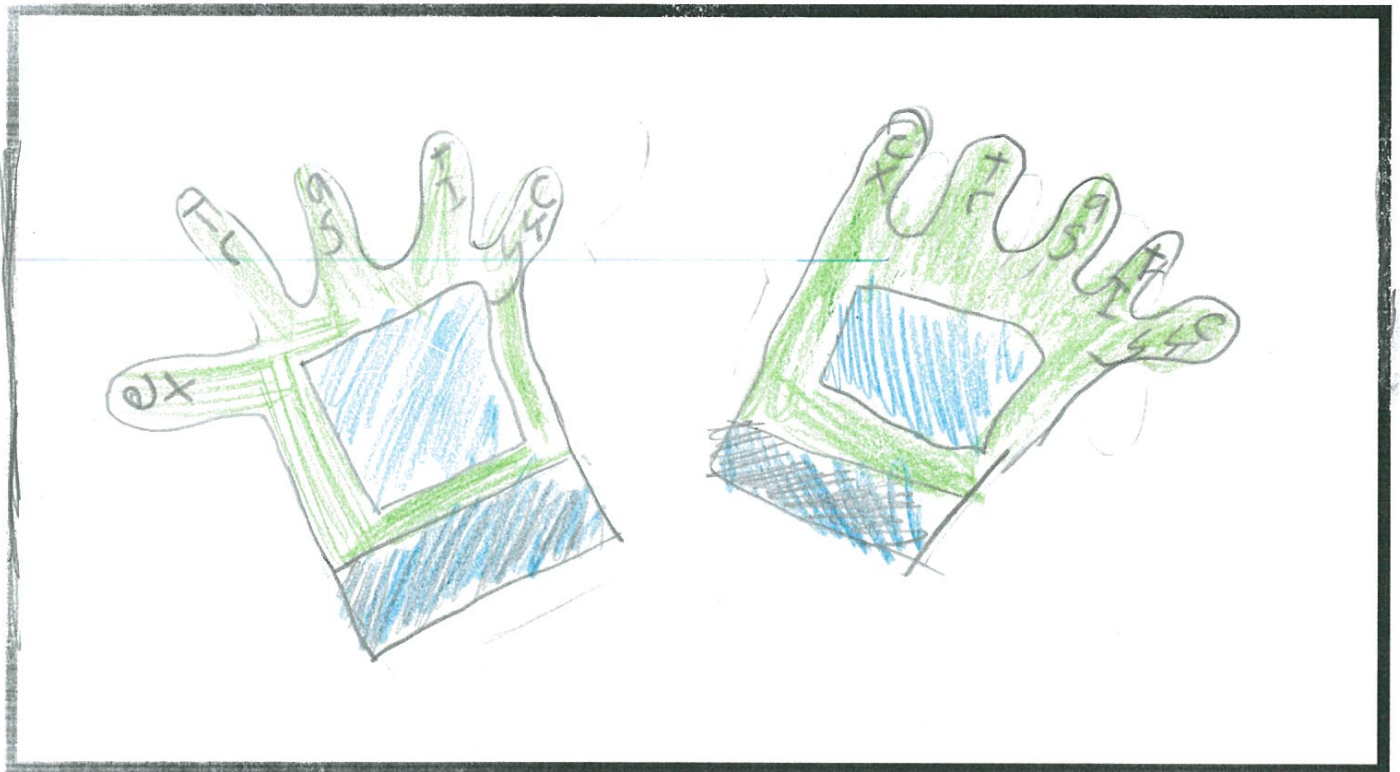

CINDERZACHA

"That's fine by me," exclaimed Cinderzacha.

At the field, Cinderzacha is playing catch with Russell Wilson, the quarterback for the Seattle Seahawks. After playing catch for a while, Cinderzacha leaves his extra sticky football gloves on the field without knowing.

After the game Cinderzacha figures out that he has lost his gloves so, like every person with $500 extra sticky gloves he went to look for them. After hours and hours of looking, Cinderzacha still couldn't find them. He wasn't only sad because they were super expensive, which they were but he was also glum because he played with an all star quarterback with them. They were very special to him. He thought maybe the next time he came to this stadium they would be in the lost and found. You might think this sounds crazy for them to wind up in a lost and found in a huge stadium, but all Cinderzacha needed right now is for him to be in a better mood, and that put him in a great one.

CINDERZACHA

Days passed, weeks passed, months passed, and even years passed before Cinderzacha returned to that stadium. One day Cinderzacha was cleaning the kitchen and he heard and knock on the door.

"Can someone get that I'm kind of busy right now," yelled out Cinderzacha.

"No! you are basically our servant," replied Michael.

"Yeah," agreed evil Sam.

"Too bad mom isn't here right now. She would get it" Cinderzacha thought to himself. But by now the person at the door had knocked four times, so, he figured that he should go answer it. When he opened the door, he saw Russell Wilson. "No way! It's Russell Wilson why are you here?" questioned Cinderzacha.

"Well it all started when we threw a ball on the field..."

CINDERZACHA

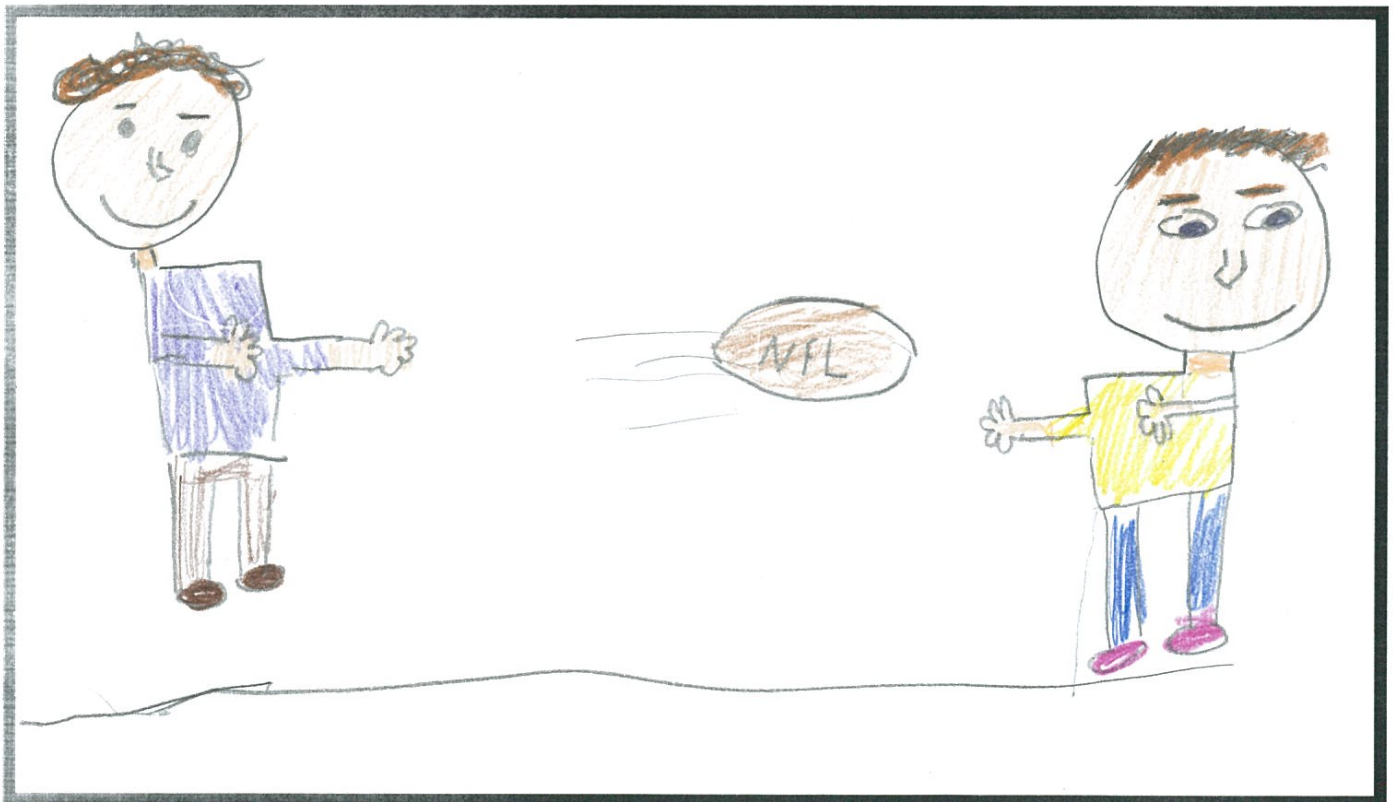

"Shh, let me go on with the story. So where was I? Oh right. Well, you left your gloves underneath my bag, I figured that out that after the game and I had to warn you. So I found your ticket and went to your seat, but you weren't there. You must have left already. I knew you lived in Vancouver so I went searching around looking who could make the same amazing catches with the gloves as you did. Nobody could until I came here and look who I found?"

"Wow isn't that great?"

"Oh definitely. Well, what are you waiting for? Let's see if you still got it in you" suggested Russell.

"Oh golly let me go grab my ball and I will meet you right here." Twenty minutes later, they already had a mini football game going and they played football happily ever after.

"Awesome" said Jake grinning.

After they had robbed the bank, Jake and Stewie were riding back in the car Jake spoke. " Thanks Stewie, I'm one of you now.

"Oh and you are also one of the world's most wanted" chuckled Stewie.

The Tale Of Maria

By: Ariel

Once a upon a time, actually two months ago, a modern king lived in Toronto, with a troll collection outside of his living room. His favourite troll was Maria. She had very, very long beautiful red hair, and she wore long skirts with long sleeve shirts. One of his servants was jealous of the king because he had everything he wanted and the servant had left overs from the king, and second hand clothes that were ripped. One day, the servant kidnapped Maria while she was having her beauty nap.

Maria woke up at a tower and said, "This is not the castle". The servant said, "Welcome to your new home!" "This is not my home, the castle is my home and where am I ?"asked Maria. "In a tower with other trolls just like you, but prettier than you".The servant left with a grin "I need to get out of here, will you help me?" The troll said, " Yes but we need to leave tonight". "I'm Maria, and your name is ?"

"John, that's my name," he said in a mexican accent, "Nice name," said Maria. "Now, let's plan," said John. "Oh, before we plan, can I brush my hair ?" asked Maria. "Sure, but be quick," said John. "Good thing I have a brush in my pocket." So John and Maria planned and planned until the servant came and gave dinner to the trolls. The servant said, "Sloppily Joes on the table tonight."

"I wish I had a piece of salmon with a salad", sighed Maria. "This is what you get for dinner. You eat it or you don't eat dinner at all!" shouted the servant. So when the servant went to bed, John and Maria climbed down the stairs and into a toy car. "Maria, are you sure that we're going in the right direction to the castle"? asked John "Of course we are!" said Maria. "I have been there many times and if the bridge is closed, there is the long way," sighed Maria. Maria was right, the bridge was closed.

Someone said, "You will need to take the tunnels from here or you will never be alive again". They turned around and saw another troll but with white hair. Maria said, "Who are you and why are you following us"?

"No reason just saying that the bridge is closed", answered the mystery troll. So Maria and John turned around to the tunnels, but they went to eat something at a little diner for trolls. They went in the diner and saw that same mystery troll, and said, "You are still following us!"

"I'm not, but John is. You see Maria, I'm the owner of this diner and I've been following John for a while and he has been stealing from the king.

He stole a crown many years ago and he's trying to kill you." "This is not true!" cried Maria, "and now I need to brush my hair!"

My name is Hercunkus", said the mystery troll. "Now Maria, take the bag in John's hand, look inside and see if there is a crown in there?"

There is a crown and it has a symbol on it. What symbol is on it?" Maria turned to John and said, "How could you? I mean we have done a lot of stuff together". Hercunkus led Maria to a safe place that led to the tunnels.

A man with a hammer said, "I will lead you to the castle with a little help from my brothers." "How many brothers do you have?", asked Maria. "Twelve", said the man, "including John". After a while, they were at the castle. Maria was so happy to see the castle and the king again. Maria never left the castle again and they all lived happily ever after! Well, all except John!

George and Harold

One day George and Harold decided to skip school. They were smart and decided to leave a trail of cans from their school, in case of getting lost.

They ventured through the forest and had loads of fun, and by the time they came back to school their parents were there. The next day they also decided to skip school, but all of the cans had been recycled.

One day George and Harold decided to skip school. They were smart and decided to leave a trail of cans from their school, in case of getting lost.

They ventured through the forest and had loads of fun, and by the time they came back to school their parents were there. The next day they also decided to skip school, but all of the cans had been recycled. The weird little human shouted "HAHAHA I have trapped you and my name is the Cannibal Dwarf." To Harold, the Cannibal Dwarf looked like a small little human with big teeth.

Before long the Cannibal Dwarf gave George lots and lots of fattening pills which he had to eat because The Cannibal Dwarf forced him to by poking him with his fire poker. In a matter of seconds George became very fat. All of the Cannibal Dwarf's flamingoes started squeaking and creaking as soon as the Cannibal dwarf took out his packed lunch and started eating.

As soon as the Cannibal dwarf started eating his packed lunch, he forced Harold to get the gas canisters for the oven from the shed but as soon as Harold got outside he took out his phone that he only used for "communication", and tried calling his parents but there was no data, so he was forced to take the gas canisters from the shed, which he did. When he came back in the cottage he had a great idea.

The Cannibal Dwarf asked him to put the gas canisters into the super heated ultra oven, but Harold said he didn't know how to do it, so the the Cannibal Dwarf decided he would show him how to put them in.

As soon as the Cannibal dwarf went inside the oven, Harold closed it, and the the Cannibal dwarf burned alive. Straight after that, Harold opened the stick cage where George was, and they ran away.

After a few minutes of walking, they saw their school. They ran ALL the way there, and as soon as they got to school the bell rang, and they went home with their parents. George and Harold told the story to their parents, but as usual there parents didn't believe them.

BIG RED DRIVING BOB

Maybe, one millisecond ago, this guy named Big Red Driving Bob made history. He lost a race with a cow and Big Red was in his car. Here's the story.

As I said, one millisecond ago, Big Red Driving Bob got a call on his cell phone late at night from his grandma. Big Red Driving Bob was a boy who lived a couple blocks away from a forest. He was a very happy boy Who always smiled and found everything to be happy.

Grandma said, "Can you please come over and cut my grass. I'm 7'1 and the grass is taller than me!"

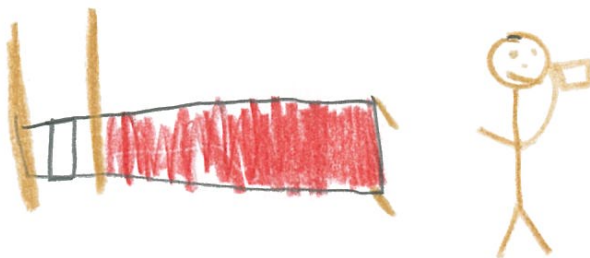

Big Red thought "Man, the last time I saw grandma she was 5'4." So, Big Red called grandma back and said "I'll be over at nine o'clock in the morning." The next morning, Big Red hopped in his car and drove over to grandma's. Two minutes later, he saw a cow eating grass. He was going to start a conversation with the cow, but just then he remembered his mom's advice.

"Cows are for eating, not for talking." But the cow read Big Red's mind and dashed off to grandma's house. Then, Big Red saw a girl with a couple of tiny guys with beards come out of a tree.

"Hi" said the girl "My name is Snow White and I am being chased by an evil queen."

"Uh... ok my name is Big Red Driving Bob and I gotta go. Bye!"

"So do I," said Snow White "I got a movie to film."

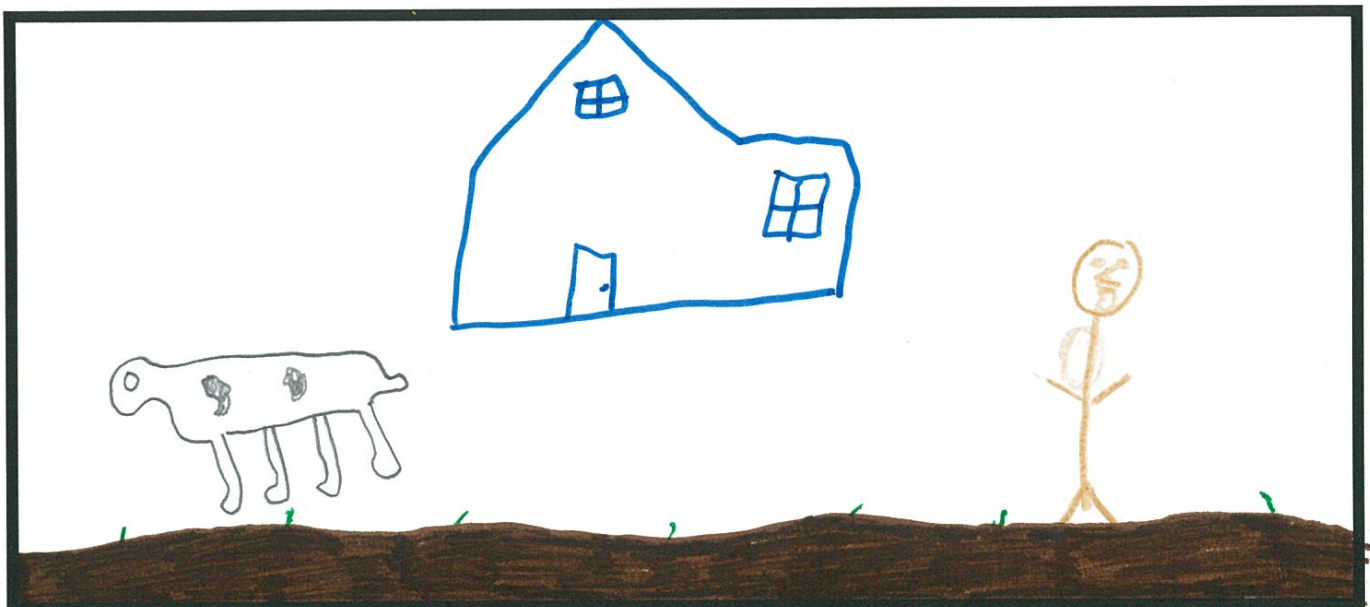

"Oh am I in it?" asked Big Red. "No," said Snow White. "I kinda went out of camera range."

"Oh," said Big Red "Good luck getting chased by an evil queen." So Big Red and Snow White went back to what they were supposed to be doing. Big Red hurtled over the door of his car (again), but forgot what he was supposed to be doing. Finally, about ten minutes later, he remembered. He started the engines to his car, revved the engines, and drove off to grandma's house at two hundred twenty mph. When he got there, he knew he would be in tons of trouble. He knew his grandma hated having no grass and guess what the cow did. HE ATE ALL OF THE GRASS!!!!!!

Big Red heard his grandma say. "Can I see my wonderful grass?" That scared the cow off but scared Big Red even more because he had remembered the lawnmower but not the magic grass growing stuff. Grandma opened the door and Big Red lived punished ever after.

The Three Little Owls

By: Ali

Once upon a time not long ago there were three little owls who lived in a very giant tree in the forests of Africa. They loved Africa even though it was very hot and dry there and there were many wild animals living there. The owls never really came low to the ground They stayed high up in the tree, so that no one could bother them. Each owl built their own nest out of different materials because they all had different ideas as to what was comfier and met their needs.

The first nest was built by Sophie a cute, smart owl who loved to have lots of fun. She made her nest out of Rainbow loom elastics because the elastics were very colourful and it would easily stretch if she needed more room in her nest. The second nest was made by Bob. Bob was a small, short owl who loved to play jokes on people. He was not very intelligent, but he always thought he was. He built his nest out of dryer lint because he wanted to sleep in something that was soft and very fluffy. He did not care that his nest was not strong. The third nest was made out of wire because Ronald the owl thought he was strong just like the wires. He wanted something that would be durable and would not fall apart. The three owls were so thrilled with their marvellous nests that they each built on their own.

Micah, a young ten year old boy from a nearby village in Africa, wandered into the forest. Micah didn't have lots of friends, and he was very lonely. He had just moved from Canada and still did not know anyone. He really wanted some company. Micah sat under the tree that the owls lived in. All of a sudden he realized that a piece of very sharp wire fell on his head. He sprinted to see where the wire came from. He looked all around him and discovered it came from the big tree he was sitting under. He looked up and saw the three owls and their nests. He screamed and woke up the sleeping owls. Soon after that Micah calmed down. He apologized for waking up the owls and tried to convince them to come to his house for a visit. He wanted to get to know them, and perhaps become friends with them.

"I am new to this village," he said in a loud voice. "I want to become your friend really badly. I'm inviting you for tea and yummy cake at my house".

"Why would I want to leave my soft cozy house in the middle of the day when I can just relax and enjoy the warmth of my nest. I already have lots of friends, and I do not need any more," yelled Bob in a angry voice.

Micah's feelings were very hurt, and he started to cry. He confessed , "You do not have to be so mean. I am just trying to be nice. Maybe you can come over at nighttime when you are awake and not in the day when you are asleep." Bob never answered.

Micah called out to Sophie. "What do you think about coming to my house for tea and cake? I just made it, and it is fresh, delicious and delightful."

"Leave me alone," shouted Sophie. "I do not want to be your friend and neither do my brothers. I will not leave my home. It is safe here high in the tree and away from all the danger of animals and people like you."

“Leave me alone,” shouted Sophie. “I do not want to be your friend and neither do my brothers. I will not leave my home. It is safe here high in the tree and away from all the danger of animals and people like you.”

Micah was so upset and started to threatened Bob and Sophie. He got really mad and started stomping his feet “You owls are being really rude. I am just trying to be friendly and make new friends. I will not harm you”.

Micah called to Ronald and invited him for tea and cake. Ronald answered in a very hurtful way. “ Have you not learned from my brother and sister? We want you to leave us alone and stop bothering us.”

Micah was very insulted and hurt. He raised his voice and became very angry and threatened that he was going to take an axe and cut down their tree and destroying their nests.

The owls said that it would not be possible. Sophie shrieked that Micah would get stuck in the elastic bands of the nest. Bob mumbled, ‘ Micah would cough so hard from the lint in my nest.’ Ronald shouted, He will get tangled and cut by the wires of my nest.

Micah uttered, “All trees are made out of bark and can be cut down. I am not afraid of taking my chances and getting harmed by your nests. Micah started cutting down the branches of Bob’s nest. Bob dashed to Sophie's nest because he knew there was room for him because her nest stretches. Micah the elastics of Sophia's nest and they both flew to Ronald’s strong wire nest.

All three sat in the wire nest while Micah began cutting down the branch of Ronald's nest.

“Wow, I just realized you guys are trying to be like the three little pigs who tried to get away from the big bad wolf. The difference is I am not bad, and I do not want to hurt you,” explained Micah. “I was just trying to be friendly and become friends with you.”

The three little owls ended up with Micah at his house. He asked again why they would not come. They answered, we also don't have any friends, and we don't know how to make friends. We are always high up in the trees. No one talks to us. Besides, we have Celiac disease. Micah says, “You should have told me this from the beginning. I can run to the store and get some gluten-free cakes. I have some gluten free cookies here in my cupboard.”

They all enjoyed a really nice day talking and laughing and eating tasty gluten-free cake and became very good friends. They met usually at night and they lived happily ever after.

Coco And The Tall Bone by Aneeve

Once upon a time, not long ago, there was a dog named Coco.

Coco wanted some food, so she dragged her food bowl to her owner, but her owner had sold her food to an old man for a little dog bone. Her owner was also too busy to give Coco food. So Coco took the little bone outside where her bowl is. She tried to put the bone in her bowl but she didn't have hands. So Coco ate all the food that got in her bowl. Then she decided to go into her house to sleep in her cozy dog bed. While Coco was sleeping it started to rain, and the bone that was in her food bowl grew. When Coco woke up she looked out her window and saw a big white bone, but she could not see the top, of it because it was covered with clouds. So Coco really wanted to climb the tall bone, so she went outside and climbed the bone, when she got to the top she saw a magical palace with a sign that said, Do Not Enter Royalty Only. But Coco did not listen, so she went in anyways. When she got into the magical palace, she saw so much money, crowns, and armor but Coco didn't really care so she went to the next room. Coco was walking to the next room. But during the time Coco was walking to the next room she heard someone talking to himself.

"I have all the salmon in this village hahahaha" He cackled.

Coco wanted the salmon but she thought to herself she would have to sneak into the next room because she does not know who the man was. Coco continued walking into the next room once she opened the next door and saw a big cat surrounded with salmon. Coco snuck up to the cat but the cat saw Coco before she could do anything.

"Why is there a dog in here!" The cat exclaimed.

Coco did not answer all she uttered was "ahhhhh" because she was shaking with fear. The cat tied Coco up. Coco was thinking of a way to get untied. While Coco was thinking the Big Cat heard a phone so he ran out to grab it. Coco thought and she thought and she finally thought of something. Coco whispered to herself "ahhha" I have sharp teeth I can rip the rope". So Coco started to rip the rope, and the rope finally ripped. Coco gathered the salmon and dashed out of the magic palace, climbed down the tall bone, went into her house, and went to sleep which meant, she achieved what she was going for. But when the Big Cat got back he had seen that Coco had vanished. He was very mad. Suddenly the doorbell rang and Coco woke up and found out that it was all just a dream.

NOAHROCKS AND THE THREE SUMO WRESTLERS

Just a second and a half ago on a sunny spring day a guy named Noahrocks went on a walk in the deep woods. Noahrocks had an iphone 6s and he used Siri to guide him through the forest. Noahrocks acted really irresponsible because he left on his walk with his phone battery charged to 13%. Suddenly, his phone battery ran out and he had no idea where he was. He had his battery case but it didn't work.

NoahRocks found a house which he thought was a mirage but it was real and so he went inside to plug his phone in. He realized this must be the home of the world champion sumo wrestlers, it was a big house for big people. After he plugged in his, he saw three pizzas. The first pizza was the dad sumo wrestler's pizza. It was thick, meaty, and too salty. The second pizza was the mom sumo wrestler's pizza it was thin like cardboard, gluten free and there were mounds of vegetables on it. The third pizza was the kid sumo wrestler's pizza and it was perfect. It was cheesy, gooey, and warm so Noahrocks ate it all up.

Noahrocks was tired after all that eating so he went to the living room and he saw three chairs. The dad sumo wrestler's chair was a huge lazy boy with a remote control but it was way too confusing. The second chair was the mom sumo wrestler's chair but it was a rocking chair and it was too scary. The third chair was the kid sumo wrestler's chair. it was a soft and perfect bean bag chair. Unfortunately, just as Noahrocks was about to fall asleep, the beans started falling out. Then Noahrocks looked around and saw an elevator. he muttered "What is wrong with me today? I am seeing all these kinds of mirages." Once again, it was real, so Noahrocks went up and he saw three beds.

The first bed was the dad sumo wrestler's bed. it was a double king size bed, too cold and too big. The second bed was the mom sumo wrestler's bed. it was a double queen sized bed with too much memory foam. The third bed was the kid sumo wrestler's bed and it was a double twin bed. It was the best, most comfortable thing Noahrocks had ever snoozed on in his whole life. Before Noahrocks knew it, he was sleeping like a king. Noahrocks woke up because he heard heavy footsteps downstairs and it was the sumo wrestlers! Noahrocks was scared and hid under the sheets.

Then he heard a loud deep voice saying, “someone took a bite of my pizza.” Then a deep woman’s voice saying, “someone took a bite of my pizza too.” In a high pitched whine someone said, “someone ate my entire pizza!”

On their way to the elevator the sumo wrestler family noticed their chairs. then the dad sumo wrestler said in a loud deep voice, “someone has been messing with my remote control.” then Noah rocks hard in a deep woman’s voice, “someone has been rocking my rocking chair.” In a high pitched whiney voice, “someone broke my chair!” the sumo wrestler family was furious. now they really wanted to get the intruder.

At that moment Noahrocks woke up and went down the elevator as fast as he could got his phone and ran all the way home. when he got home he needed to post this on twitter. But he didn't have his phone. you know what that means. he had dropped it. While the sumo wrestler family was failing to catch noahrocks, the kid sumo wrestler got caught behind and found the phone. the kid sumo wrestler said, "this is the best thing that happened to me all day. i get to play flappy bird and i get an iphone 6s" he got throu 436 pipes and when he died he had a total tantrum, because he got so far then died. Noahrocks used find my phone and tracked it down until he got the phone, even if it took wrestling with the kid sumo wrestler. Finally he got it.

Beauty and Byfuglien

by Chase

Once upon a time there was a dad named Jamal I. He was pretty wealthy because he was a millionaire. He had three sons and three daughters. His eldest son was Jamal II. Jamal II was a businessman like his dad but his dad was more experienced. His second son was James. He was a lawyer and was outstanding at it. His third son's name was David, who was a football player for the Seattle Seahawks. Now his daughters. His eldest daughter's name was Laura. She was a soccer player for the Whitecaps. The second eldest sister was Angelina. She was a basketball player for the New York Liberty.

Then the third sister was very special, better than you could ever imagine, (and this is a fairy tale). She had this glow that no one could resist. Her name was Beauty. She was a girl who would always clean up every one's mess and be happy to help you on everything. She had no job but was very helpful when her dad was on trips. Her sisters were different. Her sisters were around more than her brothers. Her sisters were very lazy. They would do nothing except bully Beauty. One fine morning in New York City, Beauty was getting out of bed when her brother James walked into her room.

"Wake up!" he said.

"I am," she replied.

"You should get dressed because breakfast is ready and Dad is telling us an important announcement!" James said.

So she got dressed into some orange shorts and a Nike red workout shirt. She went down the stairs and gave her dad a kiss and sat down. Jamal II gave Beauty her breakfast.

She said, "Thanks"

He said, "You're welcome".

"What is the big announcement dad?" Beauty asked.

"Oh, yes, right, the big news is that I'm going to Maui for a conference, but I'm not staying at a hotel I'm staying somewhere special," replied the dad.

Whenever Jamal I goes on a trip he always brings her back a delightful souvenir.

Beauty said, "Do you want me to help you pack?"

He said "Don't you have something to do?"

" Well I do have to return my books and get more but..." she said.

"No, you should go I will do it for myself" he said.

"Oh well I'm off to get my books" said Beauty.

Then Beauty walked down the road and waved when she passed by people and met with an old lady that dropped her apples in a grocery shop.

Beauty asked, "Do you need any help?"

"Okay, I would love some child, You know you are a very kind girl" she replied.

So Beauty helped the lady and she was proud, forgetting about her dad leaving and that her sisters were going to bully her when her dad was gone. So she skipped down the grey sidewalk waving to all the people because she always came here, not only for books but also to pick up stuff for her sisters because they were so lazy.

When Beauty got there she opened the door and said,

"Hi Mr. Lemoncello."

The library that she went to was Mr. Lemoncello's Library.

Have you ever heard the story of Mr Lemonchello? Well you know there's a new one that just came out! Anyways I could go on all day, but were telling a different story. So where was I?... Oh yes...

He replied, "Hi Beauty. You are here to return and get more books I suppose?"

"Yes of course, you know me too well Mr. Lemonchello."

So Beauty picked out her books and returned her others and left to go to that same shop where the lady dropped her apples. When she got there she was really hungry, but she needed to buy groceries. She bought some fruit and bought steak for dinner which David always cooked. Then she felt like sushi, so she went to Sushi King. She got a cucumber roll and an avocado roll and then got noodles. She left the store after having a delightful lunch. She walked back to the house and saw her dad getting ready to leave. He was saying bye to everybody.

He walked over to Beauty and said,

"I'm really going to miss you. Love you sweetie"

"Bye dad, love you, too".

Jamal I left.

After he landed, Jamal left the airport and got a porsche for a rental car! He drove and drove until he got to the castle where he was staying. He got out of his car and knocked on the door. There was no answer, so he went in and got himself settled. He ate the food that was on the table and went upstairs to the spare bedroom. Then he heard a sound. He was so scared that he jumped into his covers and did not come out. He heard a clock and then got out. But it wasn't an ordinary clock, it was a talking clock and a singing candle! He asked,

"What are you?"

The candle replied, "a talking candle and he is a talking clock!"

Jamal I texted Beauty,

"I'm getting kidnapped by crazy people!" He clicked send and right away Beauty replied,

"i'm coming right away."

Beauty ran into a lamborghini and drove to the location her dad sent her.

When she finally got there she rushed inside and found her dad.

She said, "what happened to you?"

He was about to say something when they heard loud footsteps, he jumped and then they heard a loud roar! It was a beast and he did not hurt them because he was trying to make a wager.

He said, "Wait I am willing to make an offer!

I will not keep you in the dungeons if your girl stays and then you can go!"

Beauty says, " Yes father go I will stay!"

So the father left and Beauty stayed and went up to the spare bedroom where her dad was in. She put some clothes away and heard a laugh. There was a talking wardrobe! Beauty gasped!

The wardrobe said, "Lumiere."

The talking candle came in and asked, "What do you need?"

The wardrobe replied,
"Can you show this girl around?"

"Of course!" he answered.

So Beauty followed him down the stairs and said, "What is that dark place over there?"

He replied, "It is the west wing, and you must never to go there!
it is where Byfuglien lives, and he never lets people go there!"

"Okay, okay".

Luimiere led Beauty to the kitchen where a lot of talking tea cups were.

" This is Mrs. Potts she will show you around and her son chip as well as Cogswart and I"

"Who is Cogswart?" Beauty asked

"He is a clock".

Beauty got shown to a beautiful dining room as well as a spectacular ballroom! Hey, have you heard of the story Cinderzacha? Well you should read, it is marvelous, anyways, we were at what again...? Oh yes, sorry, I get focused on other things and never mind. The ballroom was the most beautiful thing that Beauty has ever seen (and she is rich!).

Beauty said, "I better get some sleep. I probably have a big day tomorrow!"

So Beauty went up stairs and right into bed thinking that this was a whole dream! Beauty woke up seeing that it was not a dream. She went downstairs and saw the beast. He was sitting down eating eggs and a muffin for breakfast.

Beauty asked, "Do you mind if I have breakfast?"

The beast seemed different than you would expect. He was a bulky beast.

He said, "Help yourself to anything"

She was surprised, usually you would think when you're trapped you don't get to do what you want, but this beast was not mean he was kind hearted! So Beauty sat down and ate exactly what Byfuglien was eating, a steak,beans,mashed potatoes,and delicious salad.

Later that day the beast showed her his garden. It was beautiful, it had roses, tulips,sunflowers,and much more.At night for dinner Byfuglien made a very romantic dinner. The beast was very kind man (but in this scenario, it would be a beast).After their wonderful dinner, they both got dressed into very fancy clothes and Mrs. Pots led Beauty to the spectacular ballroom! There was some romantic music that went on and

Byfuglien asked, "Would you like to dance?"

"Yes, I would love to, Byfuglien," Beauty replied, so they danced and danced until they were really happy! And they lived happily ever after! Hahaha I'm kidding, that is not the end so they were very happy and held hands watching the sun go down and then Beauty got escorted to her room by Byfuglien and he said, "Good night,"

She replied, "Good night!"

So she fell asleep with better dreams then she had ever had!

The next day Byfuglien gave her a present. It was a mirror.

Byfuglien said, "This mirror is not an ordinary mirror, it is a mirror that shows you what you want whenever you want!"

"Thanks so much!!!"

She looked at her dad and saw her dad sick!

She said, "I need to visit my dad.

He said "Okay, go keep the mirror, but remember if you don't come back in a week, I will die" he replied.

"Okay I promise I will come back!"

So she got into her car and left and waited a week and two days and then her dad got cured.

She went back to the castle where she saw the beast on the ground dead!

She said, "No byfuglien, I forgot!"

Then she started to cry and then she said, "I love you beast!"

Then at the last second she gave the beast a kiss and he started flying back and then moved back. What was happening she thought? The beast started to fly up in the air and started to turn human! Then he woke up and then he kissed Beauty. Beauty's dad was behind her and said, "Hi Beauty, I knew this all along, he was a beast and if he fell in love then he would turn human again! So I knew that you would go looking for me and Byfug knew it, too!"

"Who is Byfug?" she asked still trying to understand everything.

"He is Byfuglien, my best bud!"

"One more thing, You know how I always bring you back a souvenir, this time I brought you back love!"

Beauty and Byfuglien got married and they lived happily ever after THE END!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

The Two Noisy Bears

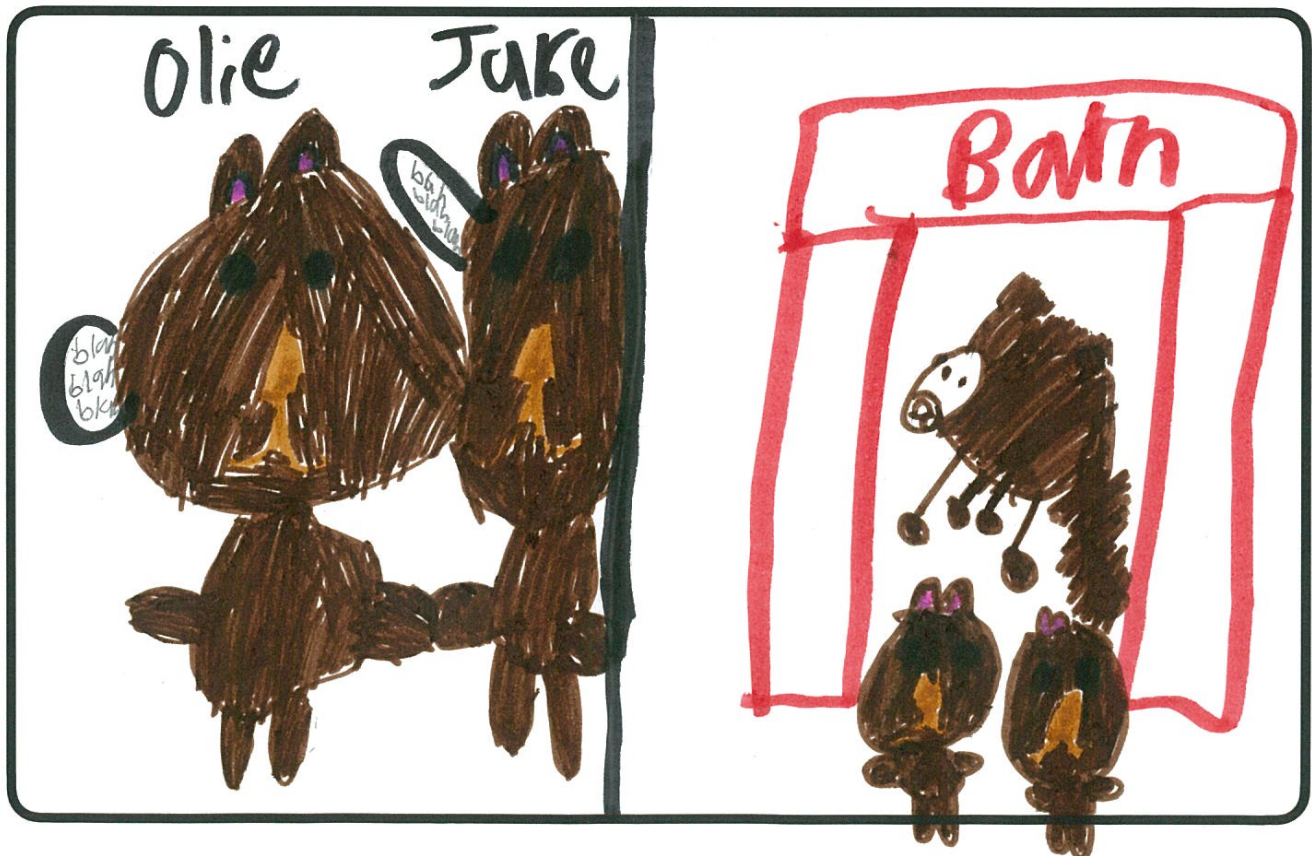

by Davis

Once upon a time there were two noisy bears that were named Olie and Jake. They were looking for bear cubs as noisy as them, and it would be a bonus if they found any honey. They searched in the barn.

There was a horse that said, "What are you doing here? What are you looking for?"

Olie said, "We're looking for two bear cubs as noisy as us."

The horse said, "I've never seen bears as noisy as you. Go check at the pond."

So, they went to the pond. They saw a duck that eating its snack.
They asked him if he ever saw any bears as noisy as them.

The duck said, "No. Go look up at the mountain. Beware, there's a big monster there. If you wake him up, he will go crazy and chase you."

"Okay, we'll won't be very quiet because we want to find somebody louder than us."

"Okay, I warned you," said the duck.

So they went off to the mountain. Jake said, "That thing looks weird."

Then Olie whispered, "Is that a monster?"

Then Jake said, "Yes, it is!"

So they screamed unexpectedly. The monster woke up and chased the bears. Luckily, they found a rock they could hide behind.

The monster said, "I wasn't trying to hurt you. Everybody thinks I'm mean. I just want a friend who is loud. By the way, my name is Stewie."

"We are loud, too. We're looking for friends as noisy as us. Let's be friends," said the two bears. "Our names are Olie and Jake."

They decided to play "Who Can Talk the Loudest." They lived loudly ever after.

The End.

Sydney Shmella

by Neta

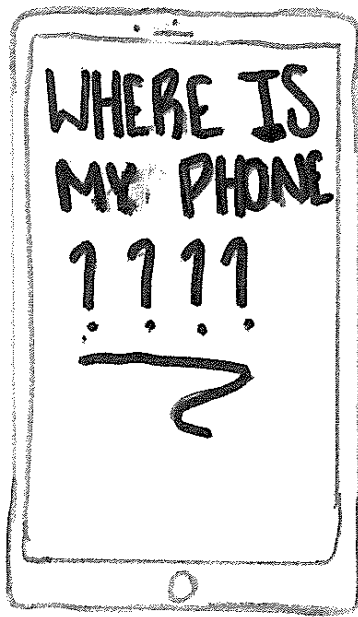

Once upon a time, in a far away land there lived a girl. Tall, blond and extremely smart. She was named Sydney Shmella. Sydney had a rude sister named Lacy Pacy who did not care about Sydney. Their parents died when Sydney was five and the sisters lived together in a big palace. HEY, kind of like Cinderella! There was also a friend of Sydney's named Alex Griffin, and he was a cool guy, a mysterious person like a spy on a very important mission! Sydney and Alex were amazing friends but they were always busy, and hardly spent time together. Also reminds me of a Shakespeare play! What is it? SNAP, SNAP Oh it is like Romeo and Juliet!

"I am moving away to another city," Sydney told Alex at school, still in shock herself from when she was told.

"My aunt told me that she has a spare room for my sister and I, so we decided to move to L.A. to live with her and not live here on our own," she explained with an upset voice.

"I'm sorry" said Sydney and then she left quickly.

Alex was walking home, day dreaming of being a part in a big talk show on TV.

Talk show

"So, Alex, what were you doing with Sydney Shmella when she left to L.A.?"

"u-um-m 'ahem' s-she was t-texting on my p-phone b-because her phone d-ied." He stuttered fast while thinking in his head "I need to go, I need to go."

end of talk show

Suddenly Alex had a flashback. "What was I doing at the moment when she left?" Alex whispered to himself. "OH NO!!!!!! She still has my phone!" He started running as fast as he could to Sydney's house, to see if she was still there. He was using the Where's my phone app on his iPad. She was already gone.

Alex ran to the first plane he could find to L.A. and got on it. For some reason doing that without ordering a ticket was legal but it was a secret! Almost like the secret menu at Starbucks...

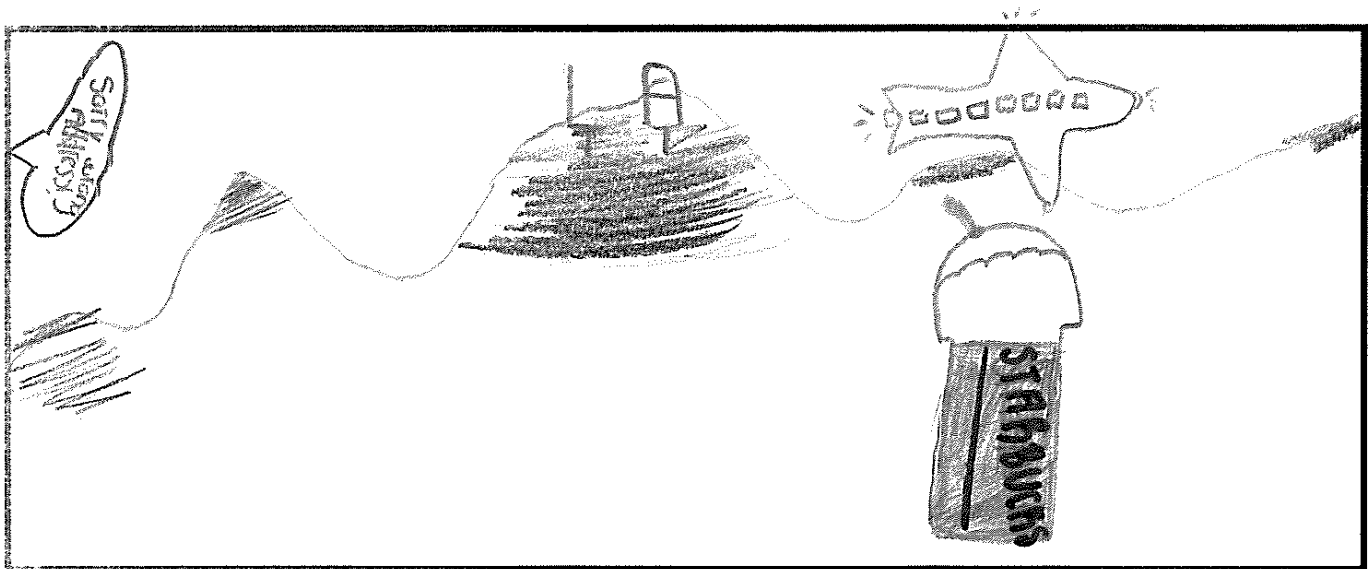

Luckily he lived in Santa Barbara, so it was only a ten minute flight.

Ten minutes later he arrived in L.A. and searched in each and every house in Beverly Hills. (At least he knew that she lived there so he would not have to look through all of L.A.) He finally found the green and blue house that Sydney was describing, and became extremely excited and came running to the front door! Alex rang the doorbell in excitement. 'Ding dong.' He was thinking of what it would be like to go to the beach and have fun in the sand and swim in the refreshing, cold, salty ocean water. If only he had his phone he could take a picture. Alex didn't notice that he was leaning on the doorbell. A girl came out. Tall and muscular. Hairy with pointy ears. With a very full stomach.

"Can I help you, sweetie?" she said in a loud voice.

Alex had just made eye contact and refocused his eyes, but he shouldn't have, he really shouldn't have!

"Sorry w-wrong a-address," he shaked and should.

Alex went to the next blue and green house on the next block. He knocked this time. He was so tired and stressed out for what he had to do next! This girl answered the door and she was Lacy Pacy, but Alex forgot that Sydney had a sister, so he had to ask for the sixty-fourth time:

“Do you know whose phone this is? The girl who owns this, her name is Sydney Shmella,” he asked her while showing her the phone. He didn’t notice who he was talking to because he was blinded by the bright sunlight that was facing right towards him.

“Yes I actually do!” Lacy answered him while looking back into the house to Sydney (she knew that it was Sydney’s phone). She said “It’s mine! I am Sydney Shmella!” She suddenly changed the tone of her voice to the tone of Sydney’s. “I just changed my hair colour and makeup!”

Alex had a feeling it wasn’t Sydney. “I want to see if you are really Sydney! So Sydney. unlock the phone for me here and now! Go on!” Alex said very clearly, since Lacy was facing the other way in a worried fear. Lacy started entering numbers even though she didn’t know what Sydney’s password was. The first time she did it, she got it wrong. Also the next and the next!

“Aha! I knew it! You aren’t Sydney Shmella!” Alex said feeling relieved that he didn’t just give her the phone. Lacy’s face had turned red from being so embarrassed.

"I am coming right back" Lacy told Alex in a rush, and then she ran off to look for Sydney, but little did she know that Sydney was right beside her, listening to the whole conversation!

"Can I try the password?" asked Sydney in a soft voice. Alex still couldn't see clearly so he couldn't tell that it was Sydney. Sydney entered the password and got it correct, then showed it to Alex. "Wait!" Alex exclaimed, "If you got it right, it can also mean that you can be one of her friends, but something that no one tells anybody is their Instagram password! Put in your Instagram password for me here and now!" Sydney went on her Instagram account, and put in her username and password. (PAUSE! You should follow her Instagram @SydneyShmellbear! OK back to the story). Sydney clicked 'submit' and entered her account successfully!

"YOU ARE SYDNEY SHMELLA!!!" He tried to move a bit to see her. "So do you have my phone?"

"Yes I actually do! Here you go" Sydney shouted and gave him his phone. "So did you only come here for your phone?" Asked Sydney.

"Actually, YES! I just needed to check my Snapchat!" Alex said while running to the beach so he could try his new filters on Musically. And that was the story of Sydney Shmella.
