Dear Friends,

I want to take this opportunity to wish you, your family and the entire Jewish community a wonderful New Year.

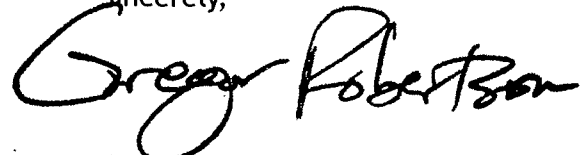

At this time of renewal, reflection and return, we should be especially grateful for our good fortune to live in a safe and clean environment, and a prosperous and peaceful city.

This is our opportunity to assess how far we have come, how much more work there is to do and how we will dedicate ourselves to all members of this city. As I reflect on this year, I find myself grateful for the enormous contributions of the Jewish community to so many sectors of life in our city.

May this year bring health and peace to us all.

Shana Tova U'Metuka — a good and sweet year,

Sincerely,

Gregor Robertson
